ged.

By the Associated Press.
ZEIGLER, Ill., Aug. 22.—One man was killed and an underestimated number of men and children were wounded today in two attacks here upon striking miners and members of their families, as mine operators sought to bring up and the new reduced wage scale and the miners sought to prevent them.

Dominic Laurant, 22, who had been in the coal for 11 years in this district, was killed at 1 a. m. today
by a group of armed men dispersed pickets at Bell & Zoller Mine No. 2, two miles south of Zeigler. He was dead at the roadside from wounds
which the pickets fired.

Two other men are known to have been wounded in the attack which was made upon the road near the mine. One of the men was struck by a machine gun and was killed. The last of the men were shot about 50 feet away.

FIVE GERMANS TO DIE FOR POLITICAL MURDER

Hostile Uproar in Court Follows Pronouncing
Of Sentence at Beuthen Under Recent Decree.

By the Associated Press.
BEUTHEN, Germany, Aug. 22.— Five men convicted of killing another in a political dispute were sentenced to death today. So intense was the crowd which had attended the trial that the police had to use their clubs to clear the courtroom.

Three of the condemned are members of Adolf Hitler's National Socialist party. The others are affiliated with the Upper Silesian Defense society which co-operates closely with the National Socialists.
They were convicted of killing a Communist in the village of Potempa.

The trial was in one of the new courts created by the emergency decree of Aug. 9, which provided for the death penalty for acts of political violence.

When sentence was given a tense
silence fell upon the courtroom.
Then there was a shout from Edmund Heines, a Hitlerite member of the Reichstag who was wearing the party uniform. "Hereafter the German people will mete out a different justice," he cried. "This verdict signals the dawn of Germany's freedom."

The other spectators shouted.
The excitement spread to the streets outside, where police again
drove the crowd.

Heines once served two years in the penitentiary for a political murder.
Today's drastic sentence followed another imposed this morning by a special court at Breslau, where 37
members of Republican organizations, including two women, were sentenced to serve from four months to four years in prison for participation in fatal political riots
last month in Silesia.

As news of the sentences spread crowds about the courthouse increased and several times the police were heard firing guns. No casualties were reported, but emergency police squads concentrated about the building as Hitler's followers threatened to storm
the courthouse and liberate the prisoners.

There were demonstrations at several points in the town. Windows of Jewish stores and Socialist newspaper offices were broken.
The closed brokerage firm of
Mark C. Steinberg & Co., it was learned today, will offer to settle
with its general creditors on a
basis of 20 per cent cash payment,
and 80 per cent of their claims in promissory notes of a trust to be created by the nine partners of the firm. It is their plan to pay off
the notes from their earnings in the
brokerage business over a 10-
year period.

IN FEDERAL COURT

Partners in Brokerage Firm Would Create Trust to Pay Off Obligations Over
10-Year Period.

Mark C. Steinberg & Co., it was learned today, will offer to settle
with its general creditors on a
basis of 20 per cent cash payment,
and 80 per cent of their claims in
promissory notes of a trust to be
created by the nine partners of the
firm. It is their plan to pay off
the notes from their earnings in the
brokerage business over a 10-
year period.

The terms of the offer became known after more than 500 persons had gathered in Federal Judge Faris' courtroom, to hear testimony of the partners as to the assets
and to hear the offer in composition. The offer was made by the creditors, whose unsecured claims amount to about $1,169,000, have the power by majority vote to accept or reject the offer. The majority must be both in number and amount.

John L. Flouman, referee in bankruptcy at Hannibal, presided at the hearing in the absence of Referee Coles, on vacation.
Some of the partners of the Steinberg firm are now engaged in business in other brokerage companies. The liability of three junior partners, it was understood, is to be limited, but Steinberg and the five other partners will assume full liability.

$233,800 IS 20 PCT.
The proposed 20 per cent cash
payment would amount to $233,800, leaving $935,200 to be paid with through the promissory notes, and dependent on the future earnings
of the partnership members.

The firm's schedules placed a book value of $4,251,280 on assets
and listed liabilities at $3,690,265.
Although these figures indicated
a book surplus of $561,015, an auditor for State purposes of the firm previously made a rough estimate that the firm's actual deficit, based on liquidating value of its assets, was $263,000 on April 17, the day before the appointment of receivers.

P. S. CO. HEAD SAYS CITY FIGURE ISN'T WORTH DISCUSSING

Stanley Clarke Comments on Proposal to Pay Not More Than $25,000,000
for Transit Properties.

'PRICE MANIFESTLY
IS A VITAL ISSUE'

Street Car President Declares Plan Does Not Contemplate Purchaser Who Will Pay Anything.

Stanley Clarke, president of the St. Louis Public Service Co., today issued a statement commenting on the recent recommendation of the city's Joint Transportation subcommittee that the city should not pay more than $25,000,000 for all street car and bus properties in the city and St. Louis County.

"It would be useless to discuss the question of the value or price
under such a plan as suggested by the sub-committee," said Clarke.
"Since, although the report makes numerous reference to 'prospective purchaser,' it is manifestly evident that there is no 'purchaser' who is to pay anything under the plan."
The company's president added that if the city actually desired to suggest consideration of the sale of the transportation properties and their purchase by the city, then
"the question of price would be a vital issue as it was in Detroit, Seattle and Toronto."

The $25,000,000 figure set as a maximum by the subcommittee was $18,000,000 less than the price set in the tentative sale discussions recently submitted informally by representatives of the Public Service Co., owner of most of the properties, to the city's representatives.
Further, the subcommittee held that the city should not consider purchase at all unless improvements
of transportation facilities, to cost an estimated total of $5,000,000,
were made by the city.

Muldoon testified that before the Board of Taxicab Control came into existence, the police had no power to examine the financial responsibility and fitness of an individual or a company applying for a license to operate cabs.
"Since the creation of the board,"
he said, "we have issued 202 certificates and 184 of the applicants were independent operators."

Treatment of Taxicab Firms.
Muldoon said that since Jan. 1,
1929, 100 drivers for the Parmelee
Transportation Co. had been deprived of their licenses by the police for one offense or another.
He was asked if, as a police officer in charge of the Hack Bureau, he had ever received any orders from the Mayor to favor any-
one. "No, I never have," Muldoon replied.

"Has there been made any attempt to induce the board to limit
the number of cabs in New York?"
Martin Conboy, special counsel for the Governor, inquired. "Has the limitation of taxicabs ever been up before the board?" "No, never," Muldoon replied.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Hav-

protest against allowing Gov.
Roosevelt to pass judgment upon his fitness to retain office, Mayor Walker today introduced the first of his witnesses at the hearing before Roosevelt. Felix Muldoon, Second Deputy Police Commissioner of New York City, said the Board of Taxicab Control never had considered limiting the number of taxicabs in the city.

Muldoon testified that in 1929 he was placed in charge of all licenses issued by the Police Department to taxicab drivers. Muldoon added he represented the Police Commissioner on the Board of Taxicab Control.

OCEAN FLYER PHONES TO WIFE IN LONDON

CAPT. J. A. MOLLISON.
THE first thing he did upon ar-

last evening was to put through a trans-Atlantic telephone call to England to his bride, Amy Johnson, English aviatrice.

Ocean Flyer Gets Thrill Run-

Police Escort.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Capt. J.
A. Mollison, who flew the perilous westward crossing of the North Atlantic alone without particular excitement, got the thrill of his life
today being driven through traffic lights with a motorcycle police escort.

With sirens blowing and traffic
police along the way holding up all traffic to let him pass at high speed, Capt. Mollison arrived at Roosevelt Field mopping his brow
and looking at excitement.
"That ride was the thrill of my life," he said. "There couldn't be anything like it in England. Even the King has to obey the traffic rules there."

"I hope to get away on my return flight to England tomorrow," he said, "but it may be two or three days before the weather is right."
Dr. James A. Kimball, Weather Bureau meteorologist, said the weather was somewhat unsettled over the ocean at present but he would not know until later whether the return flight might be safely begun tomorrow.

When he finished his record-breaking trip from Europe at 3.33
p. m. yesterday, Mollison, who is the husband of Amy Johnson, England's most famous woman flyer, said: "Amy and I have made a pact to make no more extremely long or hazardous trips, once this flight is concluded."
Mollison was in the air 36 hours,
one minute between Portmarnock, Ireland, and New York, which showed in his face when he brought his trip home.

STRIKING FARMERS DELAY TRAINS; TO EXTEND BLOCKADE

Stop Stock Shipment for Sioux City at Merville, Ia., Then Let It Proceed to Destination.

TO PUT PICKETS AROUND OMAHA

Attempts Will Be Made to Organize Nebraska Producers—Meeting of Governors Urged.

By the Associated Press.
SIOUX CITY, Ia., Aug. 22.—Striking farmers have begun to detain railway traffic to keep farm produce out of Sioux City, meanwhile seeking an extension of their lines to Omaha and Council Bluffs.

Two freight trains bound for Sioux City were stopped last night. It was the first attempt of the strikers to prevent rail shipments of farm commodities, all previous picketing having been concentrated on motor trucks.

One of the trains was detained at Merville, Ia., by 200 farmers, who stopped 11 cars of livestock bound for Sioux City packing houses. None of the stock was removed, and after a short delay, the train was permitted to resume its journey.

The other train was stopped at Jefferson, S. D., where 50 farmers put torpedoes on the tracks and waved red lanterns. The cars contained milk consigned to Sioux City. Baggagemen closed the doors of the cars and no attempt was made by the farmers to open them, and the train was delayed for only five minutes.

About 1000 farmers and their families assembled at Duplap, Ia., yesterday, agreed to broaden their activities to take in both Omaha and Council Bluffs.

Clinton P. Savery of Logan, Ia., organizer of the Farmers' Holiday Association for Iowa, told the Duplap meeting that as soon as the Iowa lines had been tightened, attempts would be made to organize Nebraska farmers. He said dairy herd owners would be asked to send free milk to Omaha and Council Bluffs so children would not suffer.

At Sioux City, where the strike movement had its inception a week ago, the farmers' lines have been drawn so tightly that no trucks have entered the city during the past few days.

Mayor W. D. Hayes of Sioux City issued a statement asking a conference of the farmers of the states involved to consider the farm strike situation, saying the "situation transcends any question of merely local interest."

Bootleggers are having troubles because of the blockade of highways into Sioux City by farm strikers.

Reports here said that most of the liquor runners have suspended operations because of the pickets and also the presence of a large force of Deputy Sheriffs along the roads.

Idaho and Washington Farmers Agree to Hold Wheat.

By the Associated Press.
LEWISTON, Idaho, Aug. 22.—Farmers in the Genesee (Idaho) and Colfax-Pullman (Wash.), districts have banded together to withhold all wheat from the market for 60 days, unless a profit can be made.

First grade wheat is quoted at 37 cents a bushel at Genesee. The organized growers control 5,000,000 bushels of grain. Several Genesee growers have gone further, more than 100 farmers signing an agreement to ask for a bid of 75 cents a bushel or no sale for 60 days.

MONTH'S BANKING HOLIDAY IS ENDED AT HERMANN, MO.

By the Associated Press.
HERMANN, Mo., Aug. 22.—The three Hermann banks, closed a month ago today for a banking holiday, opened for business today. The three banks, closed by proclamation of Mayor L. R. Wentzel, are the Hermann Savings Bank, the Farmers & Merchants Bank and the People's Bank.

E. F. Rippstein, cashier of the Hermann Savings Bank, said virtually all the depositors in the three banks had waived 30 per cent of their deposits, making possible the reopening.

The depositors were asked to waive 30 per cent of their deposits in order to eliminate from the assets of the banks certain bonds which have depreciated considerably in value. If, however, the bonds increase in value, as is expected, the increase will be credited to the depositors.

Mark C. Steinberg on Stand at Bankruptcy Hearing

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.
BROKER testifying about affairs of his firm at hearing today before referee. More than 500 persons crowded into the Federal courtroom.

by banks, Steinberg said that on the institution of the receivership, the banks first wrote requesting immediate payment of loans, as a matter of form, and that the next day the banks gave notices that they would sell the collateral deposited with them and apply the proceeds to the amounts due them. The banks also applied to their claims the cash in bank, which was about $80,000 out of the $31,000 cash on hand. This was a legal and customary action, he said.

In the sales of collateral by the banks, Steinberg said, "nothing like" the scheduled value of the collateral was realized, the scheduled value being more than $3,000,000, the collateral having been given to secure loans of about $2,500,000. In some instances, the collateral proceeds did not suffice to pay the loans in full.

"They (the banks) sold everything that it was possible for them to sell," Steinberg said, "with the result that the amount realized was considerably less than the value according to the schedules."

$27,777 Paid on Arrears Note. As to the $27,777 paid on a note of the arena, the Steinberg firm being one of 10 indorsees, Steinberg said he did not believe the claim was of any great value. He mentioned the plan for the building of the Municipal Auditorium by the city as bearing on this matter. The owners of the arena had endeavored to sell it to the city.

Office furniture, scheduled at $10,000, would not bring anything like that amount at a sale, Steinberg said.

As to accounts receivable, scheduled at $728,000, Steinberg said he did not believe any large recovery would be made. "A good part of it," he said, "is due from members of my family, who have assisted me in keeping the firm going."

Steinberg was asked how much the more than $3,000,000 collateral scheduled by the firm was owned outright. He replied that this amount included customers' securities in marginal accounts, which, he estimated, would be 60 per cent of the whole. In accordance with regular brokerage custom, and with the terms of written agreement with customers, Steinberg said these securities were used by the firm as collateral for bank loans.

Hope asked about a $92,000 insurance trust, secured by collateral scheduled at $288,000. This insurance trust, a family matter, appeared on the face of the record to have had more protection than other accounts. Steinberg explained that the securities were "cats and dogs," which the bankers would not take, though he believed they would bring about as much as $92,000.

$1,000,000 Insurance Trust. "Early in 1931," Steinberg said, "I had about $1,000,000 life insurance, and stock prices were, as it seemed to me, very low. So I formed the trust, borrowed and invested. The securities were in the firm's office until April 14, 1932, though they should not have been kept there so long."

My wife had been asking me to get my insurance in better shape, because my brother, Louis Steinberg, had become bankrupt as a result of the market. So I let the firm repurchase securities from the insurance trust at a fair price, and let the firm give its note and take as collateral these cats and dogs that the banks wouldn't take."

Edward W. Tobin, attorney for receivership creditors, took up the questioning of Steinberg. He asked about the Steinberg family accounts with the firm, and Steinberg replied that the account of his wife, Mrs. Rita Steinberg, was cleared April 14, through sale of securities, from a debit of $224,571 which she had owed the firm to about $5500 in her favor. He held as free securities, he said, 500 shares of the Florsheim Investment Co., a family holding company; 2500 shares of the Elder Manufacturing Co.; 40 shares of the Fulton Iron Co. preferred; and 500 shares of "Koplar's."

The Florsheim Investment Co., he said, "was formed a good many years ago, when I was making a good deal of money, to permit my wife and family to participate in my earnings. At one time, it had assets worth several millions."

"After the 1929 panic," he continued, "or the break in the market that we then called a panic, it was increasingly difficult to run a business such as mine, and we borrowed assets from the Florsheim Investment Co. The company lent me money. Therefore, its worth has shrunk, until its principal assets are the debts I owe it."

Asked why "free" assets had been left with the company, he said, "I had the greatest confidence in my own firm—it appears that I was mistaken. The Florsheim Investment Co. ceased to be of any importance a year or so ago, when I started borrowing from it." He said that April 14 the Florsheim Co. owed the brokerage firm $51,384, but that this was changed on April 15 by a sale of stock to a credit balance of about $13100.

Tobin asked if some of the stock remaining in the firm's assets had not appreciated in value recently. Steinberg replied that the collateral placed with the banks, the desirable stocks, and that those remaining were unlisted or inactive stocks which "just go down."

Steinberg was asked about his membership in the New York Stock Exchange, listed as an asset of the firm, and replied that the seat was purchased by him with his own funds in 1916 or 1917. The firm, he said, paid him an annual fee of interest on the value of the seat, as shown by sales from year to year. He said the seat was his chief remaining personal asset and added, "I don't owe anyone but creditors of the firm and members of my family."

Steinberg was then asked about entries in the books indicating that his brother, Louis M. Steinberg, owes the brokerage firm $350,000. Bought Out Brother.

"It is true that the books set forth such a debt," Steinberg said. "My brother retired from a partnership in 1926 or 1927. I bought him out, giving him credit on the books for the money to which he was entitled."

"After the market break of 1929, my brother very generously said, 'Everything I have is yours; use it all if you need it. Acting on that generous offer, in 1930 and 1931 I borrowed from his account and credited my capital account until I had borrowed about $300,000. That left him a credit balance (about $300,000.)"

"As things declined further, I charged to his account certain securities of the firm and of my own that I thought were then at very low prices; but the market declined further, until his account, because of this, was debited around $400,000."

O'FALLON, MO., BANK CLOSED
"FOR WEEK'S MORATORIUM"

Heavy Withdrawals Cause Action by Commercial's Directors; State Department in Charge.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 22.—The Commercial Bank at O'Fallon, St. Charles County, was closed today by its board of directors and taken over by the State Finance Department.

The last statement showed deposits totaling $36,412, resources of $124,577 and loans of $14,779. Dr. L. H. Glosensky was president and J. F. Sigmund cashier.

Dr. Glosensky said heavy withdrawals, amounting to approximately $40,000 since Jan. 1, and light deposits made it impossible for the bank to remain open.

The action of the board of directors, Dr. Glosensky said, was taken "to close the bank for a week's moratorium" to determine if the bank could obtain aid to operate.

The Commercial Bank is one of two at O'Fallon, and the tenth bank in St. Charles County to close during the last two years. Eight are operating.

New York City," said the witness. Conboy asked Hotchner if there had been any motion before the board to limit the number of taxicabs in New York.

"In June," he said, "15 of the larger operators made united application to the board of taxicab control for a forced reduction in the number of 'cabs' operating on the streets of New York City. They asked first for a reduction of 13.1 per cent," Hotchner said. "Later they made it a request for a reduction of one-half. The board refused to grant the request."

"Did you," Conboy asked, "ever receive any instructions from Mayor Walker?" "When Mayor Walker appointed me he said he wanted me to make a study of the situation and to protect the small man," the witness replied. "He asked of me no promise."

9000 "Small Men." Conboy asked how many "small men" there were among the city's group of taxicab owners. Hotchner said 9000 persons were owners and operators of one cab each. Due to business conditions, Hotchner testified, almost 90 per cent of the cabs operating on the streets of New York could be repossessed if the manufacturing companies pressed for default on notes.

"If," said Hotchner, "the board issue licenses for cabs which had been transferred as a result of litigation, 90 per cent of the cabs in the city would operate under a few companies."

"Did J. A. Sisto ever ask you to do anything favoring the Parmelee company?" Conboy asked. "I never met Mr. Sisto in my life, and wouldn't know him if I saw him," said the witness.

Q. Did Samuel Ungersfelder or anyone representing him ever ask you to do anything for the Parmelee interests. A. No, he never did. One of the 15 charges against the Mayor is that he used his office to influence taxicab limitation, henceforth, was expressed today by members of his family and officials.

Ernsting, vice-president of the First State Bank at suburban Bensenville, left home to attend to business in Chicago, where he visited one attorney and set out to see another. Since then he has not been seen.

Officers of the bank said his accounts were in good shape. Ernsting, it was learned, had been warned by police two months ago that three men had been making inquiries about him.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Aug. 22.—His sermon ended, the Rev. Thomas Wesley Sisk, 85-year-old Confederate veteran, sank to the floor of his pulpit yesterday and died. He was pastor of the Little Moffett (Ok.) Baptist Church, across the Arkansas River from Fort Smith, his home for 70 years.

Walker replied that the only possibility of unification ever considered was that, since the taxicab industry was taking in $450,000 a day, more than the income of the subway and elevated lines, unification of all the city's transportation might have to take place in order to insure continuation of the 5 cent fare on the subway, elevated and surface lines. "The only thought was that of a possible unification of all the transport systems in New York city," the Mayor declared.

Seabury read from a report of the taxicab investigating committee, suggesting that unification of taxicabs under a single franchise might have its advantages. "Argue as you will," Walker replied vehemently, "the board of estimate didn't have the right to grant a monopoly if it would."

Governor Questions Walker. "Hasn't the Board of Taxicab Control the right to limit the number of taxicab operators?" the Governor asked. "The police have that for years," Walker replied. "The Board of Taxicab Control is the result of legislation and it is composed of the best men I could find to serve."

"Hasn't the board greater powers than the police had?" the Governor asked. "I shouldn't say it had," Walker said.

The Governor announced that in view of the request for counsel for the Mayor, he would adjourn the hearing until tomorrow at 12:30.

GOVERNOR'S RIGHT TO ACT ARGUED

By the Associated Press.
ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Arguments on which Mayor James J. Walker for New York City relies to obtain Federal intervention and halt his ouster hearing before Gov. Roosevelt were laid before Supreme Court Justice Ellis J. Staley today.

Staley adjourned his session until Wednesday, when John J. Curtin, Walker's counsel, will submit briefs of his arguments.

In closing his contention that Roosevelt had denied the New York Mayor his rights, Curtin said: "When you come to think that the Governor feels he is above the law and there is no appeal, you will see that we can only go to the courts for an order to avoid physical conflict that might otherwise ensue."

Explaining the assertion as to "physical conflict," Curtin later said: "An illegal act without jurisdiction is a nullity, and consequently there might be a dispute about its enforcement. In other words, if I told you to get out of your house and you said 'You have no power to put me out, what would happen? That's as far as I'll go.'"

"I think it ought to be said at the outset," Curtin said in his argument, "that this application is not based on the theory that the court has jurisdiction. No jurisdiction is given the Governor in the Constitution, so we are not dealing with a constitutional question. Nor are we dealing with a general law, for there is no general law—strange as it may seem for the removal of the Mayor of New York City."

Curtin discussed section 132 of the New York City Charter, which provides for the removal of the Mayor by the Governor.

"Now that act," Curtin said, "if it is any good at all, will have to be good under section 7, article 10 of the Constitution (the home rule provision). It sets forth that the Legislature shall provide by law for the removal of misconduct of officers whose duties are not local or legislative and who are not elected at a general election. Curtin declared Walker's duties were local.

"What is removal?" Curtin asked. "I don't think anybody will question a statement that it is either a judicial or an executive act. An executive couldn't remove without some kind of a hearing, and, of course, the proceedings are judicial. When a judicial hearing is over, the executive issues an order and that's where the executive angle comes in."

Goes Back Into History. "Beginning in 1777 the scheme in our State seems to have been a Central Council that made all the appointments, and finally was granted power of removal. The council had about 1500 employees, and both Govs. Clinton and Jay complained about the evils growing out of patronage."

In 1821, Curtin said, a constitutional convention took away some of the vast powers of the Central Council and placed the power of removal in the Legislature. Section 7 of Article 10 of the Constitution as it now stands was adopted by the convention of 1844, Curtin said.

"At that time there were in New York only nine incorporated cities, Albany, Brooklyn, Buffalo, Hudson, Rochester, Schenectady, Troy, Utica and New York City," he continued. "Before the section was adopted a list of these incorporated cities was sent for, indicating it was certainly intended that the Mayor of each should be exempted. Up to that time no one had the power to remove. But in the Constitutional Convention of 1867 there was an attempt made."

Quoting from the minutes of that convention, one of the speakers, un, Walker's counsel, will submit briefs of his arguments.

In closing his contention that Roosevelt had denied the New York Mayor his rights, Curtin said: "When you come to think that the Governor feels he is above the law and there is no appeal, you will see that we can only go to the courts for an order to avoid physical conflict that might otherwise ensue."

In closing his contention that Roosevelt had denied the New York Mayor his rights, Curtin said: "When you come to think that the Governor feels he is above the law and there is no appeal, you will see that we can only go to the courts for an order to avoid physical conflict that might otherwise ensue."

Explaining the assertion as to "physical conflict," Curtin later said: "An illegal act without jurisdiction is a nullity, and consequently there might be a dispute about its enforcement. In other words, if I told you to get out of your house and you said 'You have no power to put me out, what would happen? That's as far as I'll go.'"

"I think it ought to be said at the outset," Curtin said in his argument, "that this application is not based on the theory that the court has jurisdiction. No jurisdiction is given the Governor in the Constitution, so we are not dealing with a constitutional question. Nor are we dealing with a general law, for there is no general law—strange as it may seem for the removal of the Mayor of New York City."

Curtin discussed section 132 of the New York City Charter, which provides for the removal of the Mayor by the Governor.

"Now that act," Curtin said, "if it is any good at all, will have to be good under section 7, article 10 of the Constitution (the home rule provision). It sets forth that the Legislature shall provide by law for the removal of misconduct of officers whose duties are not local or legislative and who are not elected at a general election. Curtin declared Walker's duties were local.

"What is removal?" Curtin asked. "I don't think anybody will question a statement that it is either a judicial or an executive act. An executive couldn't remove without some kind of a hearing, and, of course, the proceedings are judicial. When a judicial hearing is over, the executive issues an order and that's where the executive angle comes in."

Goes Back Into History. "Beginning in 1777 the scheme in our State seems to have been a Central Council that made all the appointments, and finally was granted power of removal. The council had about 1500 employees, and both Govs. Clinton and Jay complained about the evils growing out of patronage."

In 1821, Curtin said, a constitutional convention took away some of the vast powers of the Central Council and placed the power of removal in the Legislature. Section 7 of Article 10 of the Constitution as it now stands was adopted by the convention of 1844, Curtin said.

"At that time there were in New York only nine incorporated cities, Albany, Brooklyn, Buffalo, Hudson, Rochester, Schenectady, Troy, Utica and New York City," he continued. "Before the section was adopted a list of these incorporated cities was sent for, indicating it was certainly intended that the Mayor of each should be exempted. Up to that time no one had the power to remove. But in the Constitutional Convention of 1867 there was an attempt made."

Quoting from the minutes of that convention, one of the speakers, un, Walker's counsel, will submit briefs of his arguments.

In closing his contention that Roosevelt had denied the New York Mayor his rights, Curtin said: "When you come to think that the Governor feels he is above the law and there is no appeal, you will see that we can only go to the courts for an order to avoid physical conflict that might otherwise ensue."

ONE KILLED AND INJURED IN AUTO UPSET NEAR ALTON

RYING TO PASS ANOTHER CAR

Negro Woman Is Fatally Hurt When Hit by Machine as She Leaves Picnic.

Harold Guttersohn, 22 years old, living near Collinsville, was killed, and three other men were injured when the roadster in which they were riding swerved off Highway No. 160 and overturned three miles east of Alton at 10:30 p. m. Saturday.

The injured are: Roscoe Venema, 22, the driver, fractured collar bone; his brother, Leslie, 29, compound fracture of the left leg and fractured collar bone; and Lawrence Cardwell, 24, cuts and bruises. The Venema brothers are from Memphis, Mo. Cardwell's home is at Richwoods, Mo.

The four men had been working on a farm near Bethalto, Ill., and were on their way to Wood River, where they were to have a picnic. The Venema brothers were driving a Buick sedan, and the Cardwells were in a separate car. The Venema sedan swerved off the highway while attempting to pass another car.

"I understand," Justice Staley said as Henry Epstein, Deputy Attorney General, began his argument, "that your special appearance here is an expression of the unwillingness of the Governor to submit to the jurisdiction of the courts."

"I won't say that," Epstein replied, "but I will not submit to a judicial determination and extensive proceeding now in progress under a writ of prohibition."

"Suppose I should come to the conclusion," Staley observed, "that the Governor is not acting within his jurisdiction, but that a writ of prohibition would not apply."

"What have you to say about unsworn, ex-parte testimony taken before the Governor as a basis for removal?" Justice Staley queried.

"The question is whether the Governor is conducting this hearing on a legal and reasonable manner," responded Epstein. "The hearing is based on sworn testimony received in public."

"Without the production of the witnesses," Justice Staley added, "Epstein said he touched on that angle 'because your honor asks me to, not because it is germane to the question of the writ.'"

Epstein moved to strike out the section of Curtin's writing calling for a discontinuance of the Roosevelt hearing until a court decision had been had. Curtin said he had no intention of invoking that section of the order granted by the Kingston Supreme Court Justice last week.

A brief filed by the Attorney General's office, representing Gov. Roosevelt, challenged the right of Justice Staley to prevent the Governor from acting on the charges.

FIRST R. F. C. REPORT SHOWS $50,000,000 LENT IN TEN DAYS

$500,000,000 the report showed that the board had issued $475,000,000 in 10 days. The corporation had $20,000,000 in deposits with the Treasurer of the United States and had in custodian banks $1,494,555.32.

Replies to Treadway.

Trimbale, in making public the report, following his decision last Thursday that he had no other choice under the law, took exception to a statement by Representative Treadway of Massachusetts, a conferee on the relief bill, that his decision to make public the reports was to gain favor with Speaker John N. Garner.

"Such a charge is ridiculous," Trimbale said. "The law gives me no discretion in the matter. Speaker Garner has never attempted to influence me in the discharge of my duties. I have considered every objection raised to the publishing of the reports and no one has cited to me a single decision of the court to support such objections."

"My attorney, South Trimble Jr., cited Supreme Court decisions to support his opinion. If Mr. Treadway would not consider the opinions sound why did he not advise me of the defects instead of making charges through the Republican committee?"

Trimbale said that Treadway had told the House he would vote for the conference report on the relief bill, "not because I approve of all its provisions, but because I think when you are beaten the best thing to do is to acknowledge it."

Contrary to Hoover's Wishes.

"Ten minutes before the House I had set to announce my decision on Aug. 15. I received a telephone call from a high official in the administration asking what my decision would be," Trimbale said.

"I advised him of the conclusion I had reached after reviewing the legislative history of the law. He stated that my decision was contrary to the wishes of the President, and was not authorized by law."

"I told him I would announce my decision that day, but the report was not to be opened to inspection until Aug. 22, being one month after the passage of the act. He said that was a fair way to handle the matter as it would give an interested person who did not agree with my construction of the law an opportunity to petition the court for a restraining order."

Chairman Pomeroy's letter said by the close of the period all except $25,000,000 of the $250,000,000 second series 3 1/2 per cent notes authorized by the board of directors on June 16, 1932, had been sold to the Secretary of the Treasury.

"On July 22, the board of directors authorized the issuance of a third series of notes up to an aggregate amount of $250,000,000 maturing Oct. 27, 1932, and bearing interest at the rate of 3 1/2 per cent per annum," he said. "The notes will be purchased by the Secretary of the Treasury as the funds are required by the corporation."

"During the period the corporation allocated $1,000,000 to the Secretary of Agriculture in accordance with the provisions of section two of the R. F. C. act, making a total of $7,500,000 allocated from Feb. 3 to July 31, inclusive. Of this sum $7,000,000 has been paid over to the Secretary of Agriculture as of July 11."

Among Loans Approved.

The statement of loans authorized during the 10-day period under Section 6 of the R. F. C. act at a rate of interest of 5 1/2 per cent showed loans, among others, as follows:

California—Long Beach, First National Bank of Long Beach, $200,000; Los Angeles, Williams National Bank of Los Angeles, $15,000; Sacramento, California National Bank of Sacramento, $487,000; Sacramento, California Trust and Savings Bank, $250,000; San Francisco, National Trust and Savings Bank of America, $1,000,000; Santa

TWO GANGSTERS' BODIES ARE FOUND TIED UP IN BAGS

Slain With Ice Picks—Thought to Have Been on Way to Party Celebrating Killing.

By the Associated Press.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 22.—The bodies of Andrew Radzinski and Vincent Bocio, who, the police say, were Brooklyn racketeers, were found wrapped in burlap bags in a backyard at Harrison, N. J., yesterday. They had been stabbed many times with an ice pick.

Police pointed out that it was in similar fashion that John Bazzano, Pittsburgh, was killed in New York recently. His death came not long after the three Volpe brothers, gangsters, had been moved down in Bazzano's Pittsburgh Cafe.

Police suspected that the two found dead yesterday may have been abducted on their way to a party which detectives said was to have been given last week in New York in celebration of the killing of the Pittsburgh man.

Another killing yesterday was that of William Maloney, owner of an alleged speakeasy in Union City, who was found shot near North Bergen. Police think he was shot because he failed to settle his beer bill.

John Stuch, 23, Trenton, was shot in an alleged raid by Negro thieves on a farm near Ringoes, N.J. Molnar, farmer, was held on a charge of second degree murder when he was shot. He returned the fire of four men who entered his place, asked where his still was and demanded $500. Charles Froilan was shot in the lung during the fight.

An unidentified man, shot in the head, was found at Monmouth Beach. Police think he was slain at sea.

ONE MAN KILLED, SEVERAL SHOT AT ZEIGLER, ILL. MINE

Five miners were arrested in Christian County today on charges of intimidating mine bosses.

A conference of the State Policy Committee of miners protesting attempted enforcement of the reduced wage scale by union officials was called to "discuss developments" in Franklin County where a miner was shot to death and where Sheriff's deputies dispersed pickets yesterday broke up a strike line about the mine.

Wielding clubs and with their revolvers ready for action, a force of deputies broke up a scheduled mass meeting of miners yesterday afternoon at the Orient Mine No. 1, one of the largest in the district, and dispersed about 200 men on picket duty there last night. Bruised heads resulted from both sides, but no miners were seriously injured.

Deputies Use Machine Guns.

Machine gunfire, directed above the miners' heads, was used in breaking the picket line at the Orient mine. After the miners scattered, deputies used clubs to drive them away, so the night crew could return to work in the mine.

Less drastic measures were used in breaking up the meeting at West Frankfort, where only clubs were used. The Mayor of West Frankfort issued a proclamation forbidding any more mass meetings.

State highway patrolmen from other Southern Illinois points were ordered to Franklin County to maintain order on the highway in event of the expected invasion of outside miners. "Keep the highways clear" was the order given the officers by their chief, Walter Moody, from his headquarters in Springfield. The patrolmen were stationed on highways near the mines.

Sheriff Promises Protection.

Sheriff Robinson said that miners who wanted to work would have protection "fringeless of cost." Police chiefs of the mining towns also were ready to aid the Deputy Sheriff.

Although quiet prevailed last night in Williamson County, Sheriff G. J. Frick was ready with a force of more than 300 special deputies to handle any situation that might arise there. Frick had deputized 150 citizens of Carterville to protect miners at the Peabody Mine No. 15, and announced that deputy sheriffs would be stationed at all other mines in anticipation of the "invasion" by outside miners.

Precautionary measures also had been instituted in Balla, Jackson and Perry counties. Scores of Quinns were sworn in by Sheriff Davis of Perry County and patrolmen were assigned to guard highways leading to the Douglas in preparation for the expected invasion. Flocks and detectives of the Illinois

TWO TAYLORVILLE MINES OPERATING

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

TAYLORVILLE, Ill., Aug. 22.—The Peabody Coal Co. kept to its determination to open its four Christian County mines today, in the face of opposition by the rank and file miners against the reduced wage scale, but only a small proportion of its men went underground.

About 20 men went to work in No. 58, whose normal complement is 250. W. C. Argus, general superintendent of the coal company, announced that 132 men were at work at No. 9, which normally employs more than 400. The other two mines, normally employing more than 1300, were idle.

The mines all were picketed today, but there were no unlawful incidents and it appeared that for the time at least victory was with the protesting miners. Company men, going into the mine properties at 5:30 a. m., were greeted with friendly shouts by their erstwhile workers, and there was no demonstration when the 20 miners in No. 58 entered the property to go to work.

National Guard officers continue to observe the situation and four companies called back from summer camp at Rockford, Ill., still were standing by in their armories at Springfield and Decatur awaiting a possible call to action. Meanwhile order is preserved in the county by highway policemen and a force of special deputies. The special officers, detailed in groups of 10 to 40 at each of the mines, were for the most part unarmed.

WOMAN TEACHER BURNED TO DEATH IN AUTO CRASH

By the Associated Press.

CARTHAGE, Mo., Aug. 22.—Miss Juanita Dawald, 32 years old, Joplin school teacher, was burned to death in an automobile accident near here today in which four others were injured, two of them probably fatally. They were Frank Dawald, 56, and Mrs. Blanche Page, 33, both of Joplin, dangerously burned; J. L. Claypool, Tulsa, broken leg; and Pete Dawald, 19, Joplin, the driver, who suffered slight burns.

The car in which the Dawalds and Mrs. Page were riding side-wiped a tree and flipped over. H. A. Brown of Greenfield, witnesses said, narrowly avoided a second collision, then crashed into a third automobile driven by Paul L. Welch of Tulsa, who was accompanied by Claypool, his father-in-law.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The wool market is enjoying the largest concentrated buying within a given period for years and prices are responding buoyantly to the increased manufacturers' demand, local woolmen said today.

The sharpest advances in prices experienced for a long period occurred this week, selling prices moving up by an average gain of 10 per cent while asking prices, indicating the trend, are 15 per cent higher than a week ago. THEODORE ROOSEVELT TO AID IN CAMPAIGN OF HOOVER

Governor-General of Philippines Will Sail for United States Sept. 14.

By the Associated Press.

MANILA, Aug. 22.—Theodore Roosevelt, Governor-General of the Philippines, said today he would sail for the United States Sept. 14 to participate in the effort to bring about the re-election of President Hoover. Mrs. Roosevelt will remain here, since her husband expects to return in December.

The participation of the Governor-General in the Republican campaign was understood to be desired by party leaders because of the value of the name. Governor-General Roosevelt is the eldest son of the late President Theodore Roosevelt and was appointed to his present position by Hoover. The late Theodore Roosevelt and Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic presidential nominee, were distant relatives.

Governor-General Roosevelt issued a statement saying: "Circumstances have made it necessary for me to return for a brief period to the United States. I will sail Sept. 14 and will start for the Philippines again the first week in November. While there I shall naturally do all I can for the Filipino people and will hope I can accomplish something.

"As I said in my speech Saturday, at no time in my life have I been so happy as during the last months working with the leaders of the people of the Philippine Islands in their plans for the welfare of the Philippines. I am confident that the mere fact I am leaving will not in any fashion hamper or mar this work that is so necessary for our people and that the Legislature will carry it to a state-manlike and triumphant finish.

"Vice-Governor Holliday, who will be Acting Governor-General, is thoroughly in accord with all these policies and will co-operate to that end."

Irish Republican Army Session. DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Aug. 22.—Two hundred members of the Irish Republican army, most of them armed, moved into Donnan Castle during the night to hold a convention of their organization. The building is unoccupied and there was no resistance to their entry. The Government made no attempt to eject them and officials at the Republican army headquarters here said it would not be in the public interest to make any statement.

NORMAN THOMAS ASKS ROOSEVELT QUESTIONS

Three Pertain to Wall Street Boom and Subsequent Collapse in 1929.

By the Associated Press.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 22.—Norman Thomas, Socialist nominee for the presidency, addressing a rally of Rhode Island members of the party, yesterday assailed the remarks of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt in Columbus, O., and gave six questions for the Democratic nominee to answer.

Thomas declared Roosevelt, in his Columbus speech, pursued his policy of "running as a radical in the West and as a safe and sane friend of good business in the East."

Three of the six questions pertained to the Wall Street boom and subsequent collapse in 1929. Thomas asked Roosevelt when he "or your party" officially had called on the administration to check the Wall Street boom and "what specifically you advised the administration to do." He also asked Roosevelt whether he shared "the pride of certain of your national committeemen that the mere fact of your nomination was responsible for the present tender boom on Wall Street, which has been accompanied by a new drop in the index of business activity."

Question on Bank of U. S. Crash. "What did you do as Governor of New York after Jan. 21, 1929, to bring Wall Street to terms?" was one of Thomas' questions.

The Socialist nominee also asked: "Specifically, why did you not push the recommendation of Robert Mooses, Moreland Act investigator, in the City Trust Bank (New York) failure in time to save or help to save the Bank of United States? This is not a local matter in view of your sharp criticism of the Hoover policy toward banking."

In the final question, Thomas asked the Democratic nominee why "you have such faith in regulation of corporations in view of the unsatisfactory nature of all attempts at regulating these big corporations and especially in view of the fact that during your own administration the Power Trust in New York City has got away with a scheme of service charges, which in three years has taken the company 50 per cent of domestic usage of electricity in New York City to pay more than they paid before."

For Stronger Criticism of Hoover. Socialist answers to all these questions, Thomas declared, are clear and concrete and he added that if Roosevelt does not "wish to run merely on words and phrases" he should be "more specific in what he is saying."

He said: "I agree with most of the things Roosevelt says about President Hoover except that they are not bad enough and that they sound funny from the lips of a Democrat. Jimmy Walker didn't cry for regulation of Wall Street when the boom was on, did he? Roosevelt is shocked because the big corporations own so much. But what is he going to do about it?"

"You can't take the Democratic party away from Wall Street—Wall Street has bought and paid for it, as it has the Republican party."

"The only way out for the world is socialism, an international socialism, co-operative, federated commonwealth of the world."

G. O. P. LEADERS ATTACK SPEECH OF ROOSEVELT

Snell Asks Why Governor
Didn't Start His Security Market Reforms in New York.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The State Department and the Republican National Committee responded quickly to Gov. Roosevelt's opening campaign address at Columbus. The National Committee issued a statement by Representative Snell
of New York, House Republican leader, inquiring why the New York Governor had not instituted in his State the reforms he urged for regulation of the Stock Exchange and greater control and supervision of banks and security issues.

The State Department replied to the Democratic presidential nominee's reference to foreign bond sales with the assertion that the department "has never approved a single foreign loan."

Snell said Governor Roosevelt
"had many of his facts wrong," employed "unfair use of spoken words," and showed "a congenital inability to think clearly."

"The Amazing Fact."

"The amazing fact is," Snell said,
"that all these reforms could have been initiated by the Governor of the State of New York any time during the last four years, and that the Governor should know that there is no constitutional basis for Federal Government regulation of the Stock Exchange or the issue of securities by business concerns."

"The principal Stock Exchange of the country is in New York. It is much more amenable to State regulation than to National. There are no legal barriers to State regulation."

"As to the issuance of securities,
New York City is the great security market of the country.
If Gov. Roosevelt really wants to stem the flow of unsound securities and control banking commissions, could there be a more effective place to apply his theories than at the source?"

Why Not in New York?

"If his program be sound, if it would cure the economic ills of the nation, why has the Governor of New York, a State so situated as to be able to institute and carry them through with sure authority and greater effectiveness than the Federal Government, remained silent and inert until today, when he speaks not as an executive clothed with power, but as an eager seeker for a higher office?"

"Has the Governor forgotten," Snell asked, "that one of the most evil-smelling bank failures in the United States took place in New York City, a failure followed by indictment and conviction? Does he promise the country the kind of supervision that preceded the failure of the Bank of the United States, a State institution supervised by the State Banking Department?"

The State Department quoted
Roosevelt as saying at Columbus
that if he were elected "it will no longer be possible for international bankers or others to sell to the investing public of America, foreign securities on the implied understanding that these securities have been passed on or approved by the State Department or any other agency of the Federal Government."

"This is an insinuation," the statement said, "that the department has thus assisted the bankers
in the past. It would be interesting to know whether Mr. Roosevelt intends to revive this long since discredited story and whether he will assert that the department has actually thus assisted the bankers. The facts have repeatedly been stated. The department of State has never approved a single foreign loan."

State Department officials said
today the statement had been prepared by Undersecretary Castle, who was a week-end guest at the President's Rapidan camp.

Replying to inquiries by newspaper men, department officials said the Undersecretary read the statement to Secretary Stimson over long-distance telephone and the Secretary gave his approval.
Moses Says Gov. Roosevelt Talks
Like First Grade Schoolboy.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—United States Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire said that Gov.
Roosevelt's Columbus speech was "couched in terms of an intelligence of the first grade of the public schools," and that "even a spurious label bearing a Roosevelt name cannot make it palatable."

Moses' statement said:

"The future is ours to conquer," Gov. Roosevelt exclaimed at Columbus on Saturday. He means, of course, the future which is represented by the boys and girls who will vote in the election of 1943. At any rate, his remarks were all couched in terms of an intelligence of the first grade of the public schools."

The Governor shows familiarity with Lewis Carroll and Mother Goose. There is another book which he might read with profit—
the Bible. In it he will find a striking character who said, "When I was a child I thought as a child—
but when I became a man I put away childish things."

"The presidency is a man's job."

Gov. Roosevelt evidently looks upon it as a combination of the nursery and Colin's Financial School; and the nine points of salvation which he enumerates are only a neo-Bry-annism. He evidently thinks the country is to be saved by compelling every bond salesman to tell what his commission is."

36,118 MEALS SERVED NEEDED

sey's Free Kitchen.

A total of 36,118 meals were served last week at Mgr. Dempsey's emergency restaurant at 1209

yesterday and 2373 for dinner.

The dinner menu consisted of pers, carrots, turnips, cottage

by merchants. The meals for the week were prepared without expense, Father Dempsey said, all services being contributed.

STATE CAMP FOR JOBLESS URGED BY KHAKI SHIRTS

Organization Backed by War Veterans Sends Letter to the 48 Governors.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Establishment of state camps for homeless unemployed was urged yesterday in a letter sent to the Governors of all 48 states by the Khaki Shirts of America, an organization sponsored by war veterans.

The letter referred to "those 12."

900,000 unemployed" and said that "unless something helpful and humane is done to assist them before the rigors of winter close down upon them, serious disturbances will in all probability ensue."

The Governors were asked to "take immediate steps to provide state camps or cantonments where the homeless unemployed of your state, with their families, may find shelter, fuel, food and the opportunity for legitimate earning during the coming winter."

The organization said the camps

could be placed on a partly self-supporting basis, and that the cost of relief would be reduced through "elimination of the waste that inevitably occurs in individual relief work."

MOVE TO REORGANIZE FARM & HOME CONCERN

Temporary Receiver Recommends That Savings Association Be Re-Established.

Recommendation that the Farm & Home Savings & Loan Association of Nevada, Mo., be re-established as a going concern has been made to the directors by George W. Wagner, State Building and Loan Supervisor, the temporary receiver.

The association, rated as the third largest organization of the kind in the United States, went into voluntary receivership two months ago to halt heavy withdrawals.

In a report to the Shareholders' Protective and Reorganization Committee, Wagner states, "the appraisal, which are nearing completion, will show losses on real estate owned and real estate to be acquired, but I cannot see how the total of the same will be in an amount that would justify liquidation or preclude the association from being re-established as a going concern. The liquidation has in excess of $12,000,000 in loans on the building and loan plan that are not subject to foreclosure."

Wagner reports that bank loans, described as preferred claims, have been reduced from $100,000 to $85,000 through assignment of balances and other payments, and he says he expects to liquidate the indebtedness to banks in full before the end of the month. All taxes due and payable have been paid, and, in addition, taxes have been paid in advance where discounts are allowed.

The record of all delinquent loans has been checked, and a special effort is being made to collect delinquent interest. Where it appears advisable, the receiver has resorted to foreclosure proceedings to protect the company's interests. "As a going concern the association could function at less cost and to better advantage than in receivership," Wagner states. "Liquidation on this market would be ruinous, and therefore should not be thought of, except as a last resort," he asserts.

The Shareholders' Committee, which has the approval of Judge Charles A. Hendricks of the Vernon County Circuit Court, joins the receiver in urging reorganization rather than receivership. The committee is seeking power of attorney from the more than 40,000 members of the association with a view to taking whatever steps appear to the best interests of all.

The Shareholders' Committee is composed of the following: Charles E. Johnston, chairman, president of the Kansas City Southern Railroad, Kansas City; Dr. Frank D. Dickson, Kansas City; L. A. Harris, president of the American Automobile Insurance Co., St. Louis; W. O. Shillington, president Shillington Box & Lumber Co., St. Louis; George Wulff, president Western Coal & Mining Co., St. Louis; H. R. Harris, president Third National Bank, Sedalia; J. J. Lynn, Kansas City; P. S. Harris, president Harris-Gear Co., Kansas City; A. D. Krupnick, Aetna Life Insurance Co., St. Louis; W. W. Alexander, secretary Trenton Trust Co., Trenton; L. S. Boucher, president L. S. Boucher Cigar Co., Joplin; R. E. Lucas, president Missouri Stores, Columbia; W. J. Barnett, State Bank, Commerce, Okla.; W. Y. Foster, secretary Professor of Education, Southwest Missouri State Teachers' College, Springfield.

THREATENS SENATE INQUIRY OF HOOVER DAM EMPLOYMENT

Oddie of Nevada to Act If Alleged Mishandling of Workers Is Not Stopped.

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 22.—United States Senator Oddie of Nevada, en route by airplane from Boulder City, Nev., to Reno, threatened an investigation yesterday unless steps were taken immediately to end alleged mishandling of Hoover Dam workers.

Oddie said the Interior Department's attitude was one of either "gross misrepresentation or ignorance," and added: "The engineering portion of the work at Hoover Dam is being handled in an admirable style. I cannot say as much for the handling of the thousands of employed."

Among charges made by the Senator last week were that Six Companies, contractors, paid some of the wages in scrip and that housing and board were commercialized.

Yesterday he blamed Joseph M. Dixon, first Assistant Secretary of the Interior, for what he termed "the wrongful attitude placed on my statements at Washington."

"I did not say," Oddie declared, "that all men working at the dam were paid in scrip. I said that a good part of the wages were paid this way and the facts will back me up in this statement."

Error in Report of Strike.

By the Associated Press.

ATHENS, O., Aug. 22.—An Associated Press story of Aug. 12, stating that Ohio bituminous coal miners went on strike demanding higher wages, was incorrect. The miners went on strike after the Hocking Valley and Sunday Creek coal operators had posted notice of a wage reduction. The strike was in protest against this cut. The old scale ranged from $1.25 to $2.00 a day, while the new scale called for $2 a day for day laborers and 25 cents a ton for loaders. The strikers also sought recognition of the union.

URGES REPEAL TO ENABLE U. S. TO MEET PENSION PAYMENTS

Congressman J. C. Schafer Says Move Would Relieve Treasury of Strain.

By the Associated Press.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 22.—The United Spanish-American War veterans at a mass meeting yesterday, prior to their national convention, heard Representative John C. Schafer of Wisconsin utter a demand that, in its quest for economy, the Federal Government keep its hands off pensions.

"America shall not balance its budget at the expense of the veterans of its wars," Congressman Schafer said. "The repeal of prohibition laws alone would relieve the Federal Treasury of the strain under which it has been laboring."

JACKSON, Mich., Aug. 22.—E. Putnam, who has just completed a five to 14 year sentence for forgery, is bound for the State penitentiary at Dublin, Ga., as an escaped prisoner.

Commercial Treaty Discussions Enter Formal Stage.

PARIS, Aug. 22.—Negotiations for a Franco-American commercial treaty entered the formal stage today when French and American experts in economics held their first meeting at a luncheon given at the American Embassy by the United States Ambassador, Walter E. Edge. Plans were outlined for future meetings at which the whole field of commercial relations between France and the United States will be explored. It was decided that the experts would meet again shortly at the French Ministry of Commerce offices.

There has been considerable discussion here of the possibility that an Anglo-French trade treaty would be negotiated, one published report going so far as to say that negotiations would be opened this week. At the British Embassy it was stated no steps had been taken here thus far.

Stricken After Eating Corn Bread and Wild Cherry Preserves at Louisville, Ky.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 22.—Three children are dead here and four members of their family critically ill from what health authorities termed food poisoning. The dead: Kenneth Callahan, 15 months old; his sister, Cecilia, 3 years old, and Virginia, 6.

Those ill are the parents, John C. Callahan, 43, and Mrs. Callahan, 30, and two other children, Dorothy, 4, and George, 15. Four other children who did not partake of the food, served at breakfast, were not affected.

Authorities were told the victims became "suddenly ill" shortly after the meal, which consisted of bread made from cornmeal and flour and wild cherry preserves.

"Third Degree" Trial Postponed.

MINEOLA, N. Y., Aug. 22.—The trial of five Nassau County policemen charged with first degree manslaughter in connection with the death of Hyman Stark, who died after police interrogation, was postponed today until Wednesday. Defense counsel wanted more time to study medical aspects of the case.

FRANCO-U. S. NEGOTIATIONS

Commercial Treaty Discussions Enter Formal Stage.

PARIS, Aug. 22.—Negotiations for a Franco-American commercial treaty entered the formal stage today when French and American experts in economics held their first meeting at a luncheon given at the American Embassy by the United States Ambassador, Walter E. Edge. Plans were outlined for future meetings at which the whole field of commercial relations between France and the United States will be explored. It was decided that the experts would meet again shortly at the French Ministry of Commerce offices.

There has been considerable discussion here of the possibility that an Anglo-French trade treaty would be negotiated, one published report going so far as to say that negotiations would be opened this week. At the British Embassy it was stated no steps had been taken here thus far.

ABANDONED FUR VESSEL
AGAIN SEEN IN ARCTIC ICE

The Baychimo Appears Near Point Barrow, Alaska, Slowly Drifting Northward.

By the Associated Press.
POINT BARROW, Alaska, Aug. 21.—Long abandoned in the Arctic Ocean icepack and unseen for weeks, the fur trading ship Baychimo has reappeared in the ice seven miles west of here, slowly drifting northward.

The Baychimo, object of an unsuccessful aerial search over many miles of ice, seemed to be little damaged. Nineteen Eskimos, with hand sleds and skin boats, have gone out over the ice in an attempt to board it.

The Baychimo, caught in the ice near Wainwright last fall, was abandoned while its crew set up winter quarters on shore. In a violent storm of several days' duration, the vessel disappeared only to be sighted at various times since.

JAPAN REPORTED
IN NEW ATTACK IN JEHOL PROVINCE

Chinese Say They Are Being Driven Back, but Other Dispatches Tell of Sporadic Fighting.

By the Associated Press.
SHANGHAI, Aug. 21.—Chinese dispatches from Peiping and other North China points say the Japanese forces in Manchuria have begun a strong military thrust into Jehol, the province that borders on China proper.

The dispatches say fighting is going on along a "broad portion" of the Jehol eastern border, with the Chinese falling back before Japanese artillery, airplanes and machine guns.

Japanese bombing planes are reported to be spreading terror among the border populace, which is streaming into the open country seeking safety.

Foreign dispatches from North China are more conservative and tell of sporadic fighting along the Jehol eastern border. It is not clear whether the Japanese are launching a campaign to occupy Jehol or whether they are merely trying to free Genshiro Ishimoto, a kidnapped former Japanese army officer.

One of the Peiping dispatches says Gen. Tang Yu-ling, chairman (Governor) of Jehol Province, has asked for military reinforcements, adding that he will "resist to the last man."

Chinese Situation Easier.

Meanwhile, China's political crisis is thought to be nearing a solution with the decision of Wang Ching-wei to resume his office as president of the Executive Council, or Premier. It was Wang's resignation that brought on retirement of the Nanking cabinet Aug. 9.

Wang said he had consented to head the pleas of numerous leaders to carry on temporarily in view of the crisis.

This development and indications from Peiping that Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang likely would remain active on the political stage led to the conclusion that the Government soon would find itself just about as was before Aug. 9.

The seemingly revived anti-Japanese boycott assumed larger dimensions in the public mind with agitators threatening violence against those who handled Japanese goods. The merchants unwilling to handle such products were slowly increasing.

The Chinese Chamber of Commerce branded the boycotters as "traitors" and announced an investigation. The Japanese had accused the association of supporting the movement.

Explanation by Japanese.

Japanese troops entered Jehol Province a month ago after Ishimoto, a Japanese representative, was kidnapped, allegedly by Jehol bandits. They described the entry as purely to obtain his release and not a military invasion.

The Japanese charged, however, that allies of Marshal Chang, deposed Manchukuo warlord now in Peiping, had been responsible for Ishimoto's capture.

Jehol Province has not been officially allocated in the new order of things in Manchuria. Formerly it was a part of Chihli Province, China, dominated by Peiping. Later maps show it neither as a part of China nor Manchuria.

The new Japanese maps of the newly created Manchukuo, the independent nation sponsored by Japan, show Jehol as a part of Manchukuo. None of the territory has been recognized by foreign Government as independent, hence officially remains a part of China.

Tokio Says Jehol Will Be Sought as Part of Manchukuo.

TOKIO, Aug. 22.—A statement attributed to official quarters today said it was only a question of time before strong action would be taken to make Jehol Province unquestionably a part of the newly-created independent state of Manchukuo.

This assertion came a few hours after dispatches from Japanese correspondents at Chinchow, Manchuria, stating that a Japanese detachment stationed near Peiping, Jehol, had routed several hundred Chinese regulars after a sharp battle.

The War Office, however, denied that the Japanese army had assumed the offensive in Jehol or contemplated at present a large scale invasion of that province that heretofore had divided China proper from Manchuria.

The clash described in the Chinchow dispatches was described as a minor local affair, but a spokesman for the Foreign Office intimated that favorable autumn weather probably would see determined Japanese military action in Jehol.

The purpose of such a movement would be to end an unsatisfactory situation arising out of the capture by Jehol bandits of Genshiro Ishimoto, a former Japanese army officer. The Japanese also consider the allegiance of Chairman (Governor) Tang Yu-ling of Jehol to Manchukuo as "doubtful."

The Diet here convened meanwhile for its third extraordinary session of the year. It will get down to the main business at hand on Thursday with Government statements from Premier Makoto Tanaka, Foreign Minister Toyama and Finance Minister Korekiyo Takahashi.

PROSECUTOR TO URGE EXECUTION OF SANJURO

Leader of Spanish Revolt to Be Tried Before Military Court.

By the Associated Press.

MADRID, Aug. 21.—Gen. Jose Sanjuro, chief of the recent monarchist rebellion against the republic, and three of his confederates will be court-martialed within 72 hours and will be threatened with the firing squad.

President Mariano Gomez of the Supreme Court announced yesterday that they would be placed on trial tomorrow or Wednesday and that Minister of Justice Alvaro Ali-bornes planned to demand the death penalty.

On trial with Sanjuro will be Gen. Herranz, Lieutenant-Colonel

Infantes and Capt. Justo Sanjuro. Lieut. Diaz Carmona and lesser army officers will have an ordinary trial and they may receive heavy jail sentences.

Former Cabinet Minister Francisco Bergamin was selected to defend Gen. Sanjuro.

The indictment characterizes Sanjuro as the lone military leader in a rebellion against the state. It charges him with ejecting the legal authorities in Seville and replacing them with persons of subversive character. It accused him of organizing military forces against the Government and naming himself Captain-General of a Spanish region.

FOR BONUS TO IMPROVE QUALITY OF CHILDREN

Eugenists Stress Need of Good Heredity and Danger of Immigrant Genes.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—State bonuses for the parents of children of good heredity were advocated at the third International Congress of Eugenics which opened here today. Protection against immigrant genes (living particles controlling heredity) even more dangerous to a nation than disease germs, was suggested through laws permitting the deportation of first generation children of newcomers in any country.

"Equivalence of women instead of 'equality' with men, clothing better suited to motherhood, a tendency in Europe for higher classes to have more children and sterilization of the unfit were mentioned.

Dr. Theodore Russell Robie declared that the "greatest single cause of mental deficiency (50 to 65 per cent) is poor heredity."

State payment of $50 monthly to parent of good heredity when their third child reaches its fifth birthday and $10 or more for each child in addition was advocated by Dr. Renato Kehl of Rio de Janeiro. The death of a child would end the bonus payment. He favored also high inheritance taxes for families with few children, with reductions for large families.

Income tax rebates to cover substantial parts of a child's education were suggested by Dr. J. Sanders of Rotterdam.

These State allowances, however desirable, would almost certainly be too small to encourage the really gifted to have more children, said Sir Bernard Mallet of London, spread of eugenic knowledge he held to be the "real hope."

"The serious fall in the birth rate, due undoubtedly to the spread of the knowledge of contraceptive devices," he said, "which has occurred in the last 50 years, is perhaps the most momentous social and biological phenomenon of our time; and it is impossible to contemplate without alarm the effect of its probable development on the future of the race. Whatever objection may be felt to birth control on religious and social grounds, it cannot but be deplored that, from the nature of the case, the classes in which the use of contraceptive methods would be eminently desirable (the mentally unfit) are incapable of applying any means yet devised."

"It is possible, of course, that simple and reliable methods may in time be discovered by the labors of such organizations as the Birth Control Investigation Committee (British). But for the time being it is only to sterilization that we can look to limit the fertility of mental defectives and of those classes composing the social problem group."

TO GIVE AWAY RAILWAY

Rio Grande Wants to Get $10 of $25-Mile Branch.

DENVER, Aug. 22.—The Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad has notified the State Public Utilities Commission it will give its 31-mile branch between Sapero and Lake City, Colo., to anyone who will operate it and pay the taxes. Or, the road will lease the branch for $480 a year and throw in free use of a locomotive and coach. The branch once was a thriving feeder line of the Rio Grande. With the decline of mining in the section, the road has become such a burden that the company is willing to give it away.

SUSPECT IN IOWA MURDER INSISTS HE WAS IN TEXAS

Archie Jenkins Offers Alibi; But Experts Say His Pistol Fired Fatal Shot.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Aug. 22.—Sheriff P. A. Lainsen of Pottawattamie County last night said he had received a statement from Archie M. Jenkins of Houston, Tex., held in connection with the slaying of Angelo Sivigliano, in which Jenkins offered an alibi.

Sivigliano, a former Kansas City police character, was slain and his body left on a highway near Glenwood, Ia., a week ago. Jenkins and two other Texans, C. J. Heister of Houston and Ralph Arnold of Dallas were arrested in Omaha in a roundup police there hoped would clear up the slaying Aug. 24 of Grover H. Petty, Omaha gambler.

Jenkins was brought here from Omaha yesterday and left here by Mills County authorities for safekeeping. An Omaha ballistics expert said bullets fired from Jenkins' gun were similar to the nine which pierced Sivigliano's back.

Lainsen said Jenkins' alibi was that he was in Marlin, Tex., Aug. 13 and that a dentist there worked on his teeth. He spent that night in a Marlin hotel, Jenkins said. From Marlin, according to the statement, Jenkins went to Omaha.

OV. ROOSEVELT TO TALK SATURDAY AT SEAGIRT, N. J.

By the Associated Press.

SEAGIRT, N. J., Aug. 22.—Reverend yesterday to the executive session after delivering the first campaign speech of his presidential campaign at Columbus, O. Saturday, Gov. Roosevelt was manifestly satisfied by the sight of a great number of complimentary telegrams received from all sections of the country. Some of the messages, however, were not of a flattering nature, Roosevelt said.

The major part of this week will be devoted by Roosevelt to a conference of the hearings in the presence of Mayor James J. Walker of New York, whose removal from office has been recommended by the Mayor's Committee investigating the New York City administration. On Saturday, the second stump speech of the national campaign will be made by the Governor at Seagirt, N. J., where a meeting of the New York City administration will be held. Davis was an adviser of Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, Democratic leader and of the chief Alfred E. Smith voters at the Democratic national convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Davis were among guests at the mansion yesterday. Davis, an Undersecretary of State in the Woodrow Wilson administration, is a student of foreign affairs. Davis was an adviser of foreign affairs to Smith when he was Democratic presidential candidate in 1928.

It was reported in circles close to Roosevelt that he had in mind about six more major addresses of them, to be delivered at Seagirt, Kan., on September 14. He will be devoted to the farm question. Another will be devoted to foreign affairs and a third to prohibition. The other topics have not yet been determined.

Gov. Roosevelt today made it emphatically clear that he did not propose intervention by the United States in the untangling of any European problems. His statement was prompted by what he termed as "incorrect interpretations" made in a recent interview with a correspondent for a Hungarian newspaper.

"My attention," said a formal statement by Roosevelt, "has been called to certain incorrect interpretations of a recent interview I had with a representative of the Hungarian press."

"It is only fair that I should make clear that while I have the deepest personal interest and sympathy with all the nations of Central Europe in their problems of reconstruction, it was never my desire to be understood as advocating the intervention of the government of the United States in the settlement of any purely European problems."

Arm Bureau Officer Declares Boards of Trade Are Throwing Up Smoke Screens.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—M. S. Winder, executive secretary of the American Farm Bureau Federation, charged in an article yesterday that "Boards of Trade and their selfish groups" are backing government cost cut campaigns as an excuse for eliminating the Department of Agriculture.

"Their activities must not mislead," Winder wrote in the September issue of the Bureau Farmer, the move for cutting the cost of government is essential and vital to farm welfare.

Winder expressed himself as welcoming aid of existing organizations and sincere newly-formed groups in what he said was the Federation's 13-year fight to cut government costs. But he asserted, the campaign has been seized on by greedy selfish interests who are opposed to the development of organized agriculture.

RICHMOND, Ind., Aug. 22.—Through traffic on the Pennsylvania Railroad was resumed west of here yesterday after a tie up of more than 12 hours to clear wreckage near Dublin, Ind., where three cars of an eastbound freight were struck Saturday night by a St. Louis-bound passenger train. Five persons were injured.

J. G. Gackler, 43, of Dayton, O., fireman on the passenger locomotive, was burned when the locomotive, tender and an express car upset. Engineer Tom Canning of Columbus, O., escaped injury, as did six youths riding on the tender. 56 Moving From Los Angeles While 28 Get Under Way From Washington.

By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 22.—Two fleets of racing airplanes, one from the Atlantic, the other from the Pacific, 84 in all, today entered the second leg of the Cord Cup transcontinental air derby.

Their spectacular 2369-mile contest will end at the Cleveland airport Saturday as one of the main events of the National Air Races. Forty-eight men and eight women flyers in the Pacific group started their first leg yesterday at Los Angeles and all landed safely within a few hours at Yuma, Ariz., where they spent the night.

The Atlantic group took off from Washington, D. C., and ended their first leg at Winston-Salem, N. C., but with one of their 28 entries, Cecil Coffrin, Brooklyn, N. Y., forced out by engine trouble. He was reported down at Fredericksburg, Va.

Leader Has Perfect Score.
Figuring ratings on a point-and-handicap basis, the judges announced Art Carman, Bloomington, Ill., as winner of the Los Angeles-Yuma leg. Flying a monoplane with a speed of 110.4 miles an hour, he landed in one hour and 55 minutes for a perfect score of 270 points.

Ray Hunt of Norman, Ok., was second with 162 points, and Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell, Long Beach, Cal., who won first place in the 1930 women's air derby and second in 1932, was third with 168 points.

Steel Spring Model Illustrates New Theory of Atomic Cohesion

Johns Hopkins' Experimenter Finds Proof of Mass-Force Idea in Correspondence of Vibrations and Lines of Spectrum.

By the Associated Press.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 22.—Atoms are bound together in the molecule by lines of force or electricity that behave like common spiral steel springs, according to Prof. Donald H. Andrews of Johns Hopkins University at Baltimore. Dr. Andrews, displayed to the American Chemical Society here today a model of a molecule of water (H₂O) constructed in line with this theory.

Atoms, even in solid metal, are known to be in constant vibratory motion, yet without escaping from their molecule. This movement, says Dr. Andrews, is strikingly like that of weights, representing atoms, fastened to the ends of spiral springs. The model molecule of water resembled a wide letter V. At the point was a large steel ball, the two legs were spiral springs with two small steel balls fastened at the ends. These two smaller balls represented the two hydrogen atoms in the molecule, the heavier steel ball represented the heavy oxygen atom.

The two springs represented the chemical or electrical forces binding the three atoms together.

The weights of the steel balls corresponded to the known atomic weights of hydrogen and oxygen. The tension of the springs corresponded to the known forces binding the atoms together in water. The model was shaken in a speed machine. At most speeds little motion was shown in the model, but there were three speeds showing definite vibrations. The fact was then observed that these three mechanically produced vibrations corresponded with the light spectra of vibrations of actual water molecules.

"This type of study," Dr. Andrews said, "was extended to molecules as complicated as benzene, toluene, carbon tetrachloride and methane. In the great majority of cases the movement in the mechanical molecule occurred at frequencies which corresponded almost exactly to the lines in the spectra.

"As a consequence we have rather vivid proof that our picture of the molecule in the terms of forces and masses is essentially correct. We can now interpret a complex spectrum of many lines and tell just which part of the molecule is responsible for a given line. This is in reality a new way of looking inside the molecule and almost seeing what is going on."

OBJECTS TO MARINE BAND AT HOOVER'S NOTIFICATION

American Federation of Musicians Says Affair Was "Purely Partisan."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Use of the United States Marine Band at the Hoover notification ceremony was protested against as illegal by the American Federation of Musicians in a letter addressed last night to Secretary of Navy Adams.

The letter, signed by Joseph N. Weber, president, said "the occasion was in no sense a Federal official occasion." But a "purely partisan political affair."

Weber charged that use of the Marine musicians was "a deliberate violation" of the national defense act "providing that no member of the Army, Navy or Marine Corps shall be ordered or permitted to engage in any civilian employment for hire or otherwise when such engagement shall interfere with the employment of local musicians."

WE'VE made it a habit to present the year's supreme values during this annual event. A new factor has thrust itself into the picture this season to help us surpass our best efforts of the past: The furniture in our own stock, in addition to special purchases, was bought at the furniture market's lowest ebb. To duplicate today's incredibly low prices in the future... it will first be necessary to duplicate the abnormal conditions under which our own purchases were made. Stabilizing measures taken by the furniture industry make it definitely doubtful whether that will come about.

Large cash outlays aren't necessary to participate in this super-value event. Ask about our liberal Deferred Payments. That's how hundreds are taking full advantage of these savings.

FIVE COLLEGE YOUTHS CROSS OCEAN IN KETCH

Make Gibraltar in 49 Days Out of New York, Despite Storms and Calm.

By the Associated Press.

GIBRALTAR, Aug. 22.—Five young men, all under-graduates of Princeton University, have crossed the Atlantic in a two-masted sail boat in 49 days despite storm and calm.

The adventure began in New York July 2, and will end, for the time being at least, in Marseilles, when the craft reaches there. The youths lost five sails in a heavy blow and spent 14 days in various spots of dead calm. The voyagers are: William Drewrey, New York; William L. Crow, New York; Standish Backus, Detroit; Ashley Hardy, Boston; and Robert Keldie, Baltimore.

Here is the story of the adventure from Drewrey:

"We sailed from New York July 2, reaching Marseilles five days later. We made the Azores July 23, leaving for Tangiers July 31, and arriving there Aug. 16. We reached Gibraltar Saturday for provisions.

"Although we were inexperienced when we started the cruise, we had no trouble navigating our ketch, the Storbecker, after the first few days.

"A gale struck us on the fourth day after quitting Marseilles, and we had to heave to and drop the sea anchor for 18 hours. Two days later we encountered a storm which carried away five sails, and held us up for five days.

"In all that blow, our 21-ton craft was never in danger of sinking.

"We met plenty of head winds, but the so-called 'prevailing south-west winds' were conspicuously absent. We also encountered many calms, totaling about 14 days. These we spent swimming, reading, playing games, and listening to radio concerts.

"After leaving the Azores, we hailed the British steamer Pacific President and went alongside to check our navigation position."

The vessel sailed yesterday for Malaga, Spain. It will follow the coast to Marseilles, where the craft will either be sold or stored until next summer for the return journey.

Drewrey remained here to catch a liner for Marseilles, where he will rejoin his companions.

DAUGHTER OF GOVERNOR'S AID SHOT AFTER AUTOMOBILE RIDE

Miss Evelyn Higgins Seriously Wounded When Crossing Vacant Lot in Jersey City, N. J.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Aug. 22.—Miss Evelyn Higgins, whose father is Maj. William Higgins of the staff of Gov. A. Harry Moore, was seriously wounded early yesterday as she crossed a vacant lot here after an automobile ride. No weapon was found, Miss Higgins was in too serious a condition to be questioned, and there was no indication as to whether it was an attempted murder or a strange accident. She is 25 years old.

Police were reluctant to comment on Miss Higgins' case. Accompanied by her sister, Mae, and her brother, William, she went riding Saturday night. Early yesterday the car, driven by Vincent Brady of New Brunswick, stopped at a vacant lot. Mae Higgins felt ill and wanted to get out. She walked into the lot. Then she called her sister. Evelyn went to her, followed by her brother, and Frank Hanlon, 28, of Passaic. The two men assisted Mae back to the car, the police said.

Then the brother heard a sharp report and promptly Evelyn walked to the car and got in. They had moved ahead only a few feet when she asked to be taken to a doctor.

ACTION ON GRAND WIDENING BENEFITS DEFERRED BY COURT

Report of Commissioners on Condemnation Suit Is Awaited; Three Oppose Assessment.

Action on the plea of three property owners objecting to an assessment of benefits for the proposed widening of Grand boulevard between Magnolia avenue and Lawton boulevard was deferred by Circuit Judge Hartmann today until such time as the commissioners in a condemnation suit relating to the proposal have filed their report. The objectors contended that the widening is for general benefit and therefore the cost should not be assessed against owners of a property in a prescribed benefit district. It was also contended the thoroughfare forms part of a State highway route.

In sustaining the city's contention that the motion to abate the case was premature, Judge Hartmann said until the report is filed there is nothing on record to show the area of the proposed benefit district or what property owners are to be assessed. One of the commissioners testified they planned to tax property lying 200 feet east and west of Grand boulevard from Arsenal street to Delmar boulevard.

The objectors are Carl Phillips, Dr. Felix W. Garcia and William Schneider, acting. It was stated, in behalf of a property owners' protective association represented by Attorney August G. Wale. Another objection to the suit cited by the property owners was that all legislative requirements necessary in condemnation proceedings had not been complied with. According to this complaint, the petition of the city did not state that permission had been obtained from the Missouri Pacific Service Commission for the widening of Grand viaduct over the railroad tracks.

4 IN DRUG STORE HELD UP, OWNER ROBBED OF $150

Armed Man With Adhesive
Tape on Face as Mask
Loots Cash Registers at 3325 Clara.

Harold Davidson, proprietor of a drug store at 3325 Clara avenue, a clerk and two customers were held up last night by an armed man whose face was partially covered with adhesive tape, apparently to prevent identification. The robber offered the four victims to a rear room, looted two cash registers of $150 and escaped with a second man who had acted as a lookout.

Kurt Schroeder, 7417 Madge avenue, Maplewood, and a young woman were seated in his automobile near his home in the 4800 block of St. Louis avenue early today when they were held up by two men, one with a revolver. Learning that Schroeder had only change in his pocket, the robbers took a small diamond ring from him and drove away in his machine, telling him it would be abandoned later. It was found on Bell avenue near Grand boulevard, where another stolen automobile used by robbers was abandoned early Saturday.

Robbed of Auto and $4.
Richard Sahanjan, 3750 Westminister place, was robbed of his automobile and $4 by a man who went up to the machine as Sahanjan arrived at his home early today. The robber held his hand in his pocket as if he had a revolver.

Walking in the 1000 block of Chestnut street Saturday night, John Meyerhardt of Jefferson City, an employee of the State Game and Fish Department, was held up by a man who took $75 and a railroad ticket, but who returned the ticket at his request.

Meyerhardt told police he saw the robber enter a rooming house in the block and they arrested a 20-year-old waiter who had $41 in his possession. Although identified by Meyerhardt, he denied the robbery and said he had earned the money.

Two passengers in the automobile of John Lehmkuhl, 5938 Ridge avenue, were not arrested by two robbers who took $32 from him as he drove up in front of his home Saturday night. The robbers escaped in an automobile driven by a third man.

MOVE REPORTED TO WRITE SMITH'S NAME ON BALLOT WHITNEY HEIR TRIES HIS LUCK AT POLITICS

"Sonny" Running for Congress
as Democrat in Long Island District.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—The New York Times says cards urging voters to write in the name of former Gov. Alfred E. Smith on the Presidential ballot in November have been circulated in three or four Middle Western states. Cards received here, the paper says, were traced to the Smith Club of Nebraska, an organization formed before the Democratic national convention.

Reports from Nebraska say that no Smith club has been active recently, though before the convention there was a "Smith or Hoover Club," the members of which pledged themselves to vote for Hoover in the event that Smith was not nominated by the Democrats.

Democratic defection in Minnesota has taken the form of an open move to place presidential electors for Smith on the ballot. This plan recently was announced by John B. Groves of Minneapolis. Groves said it was launched by a group which felt that it could not support Roosevelt.

It is pointed out here by Democratic leaders that the writing in of Smith's name on the ballot will render the vote ineffective since the vote is not directly for a President, but for an electoral college.

Jewelry and clothing valued at $385 were also taken. When a Negro youth wearing a pink shirt snatched a purse from Miss Louise Kelly, 621 Dover block at Eighteenth and St. Charles streets Saturday night, her brother, Daniel D. Kelly, and another man gave chase up an alley. They captured a youth at Twenty-second and Olive streets whom Miss Kelly identified. The purse, which contained only a few dollars, was found in the alley.

DEED WRONGFULLY AS PAID
$20,000 Instrument Given to Bank in 1924 as Partial Security for $45,000 Loan.

Circuit Judge Hartmann today ordered reinstated in the files of the Recorder of Deeds the record of a $20,000 deed of trust, which he found had been improperly carried as paid.

The deed of trust was given in 1924 to the Northwestern Trust Co. by Ferd Warner, former proprietor of a downtown tailor shop, as partial security for a loan of $45,000. The deed is on property located on the south side of Natural Bridge avenue, immediately east of Grand boulevard. Warner was judged incompetent several years ago, and is now under the guardianship of his wife, Cecelia.

According to the bank's petition for reinstatement, the deed was "fraudulently released," although the indebtedness still exists. Mrs. Warner corroborated the bank's claim with reference to the indebtedness. Judge Hartmann found, in his formal order, that the deed was noted as paid on the representation of "one Bert Thompson, purported owner of the deed, Sept. 3, 1931." The transaction was completed, it was shown, on presentation of affidavits by Mrs. Warner stating that the deed and notes had been lost, or destroyed. In court today Mrs. Warner testified that she does not know Thompson.

INQUIRY GOES ON IN DEATH OF PRIEST AND WOMAN

Result of Second Autopsy on Teacher's Body Awaited at New Haven.

By the Associated Press. NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 22.—Members of St. Louis' Catholic Church paid their last tribute today to the Rev. Joseph P. Cournoyer, whose body was found in his closed garage several hours after a search of the rectory had disclosed the body of Miss Lavina Moran.

In the ivy-covered church of which he had been pastor since 1913, a high mass of requiem was celebrated for Father Cournoyer. At the same time Miss Moran's funeral was held at St. Brendan's Church in another section of the city.

Aside from disclosing that the 43-year-old priest was killed by carbon monoxide, officials declined to say what, if anything, they had found during their three-day investigation. Even more reluctant were they to discuss the death of the 39-year-old teacher.

Officials were known to incline toward the theory that the priest killed himself in his automobile Wednesday about the same time Miss Moran, an active worker in the parish, died. Her body, partly clad, was found in a bedroom. A three-day search for the dress she wore when her nephew drove her to the rectory Wednesday has been fruitless.

The result of a second autopsy on Miss Moran's body was awaited by Coroner James J. Corrigan from Medical Examiner Scarborough.

The body of Carpe, who also apparently had fallen into a crevasse, was not found. Lavy and Taylor came here from New Jersey to make the search for Koven's mother, who lives in Jersey City, N. J.

Bain and his co-defendants—John H. and Robert A. Bain, his sons, and W. Merle Fisher, his son-in-law—are charged with having caused the failure of Bain's 12 community banks by mismanagement and dishonesty. The banks crashed in June, 1931, with $13,000,000 deposits.

The final testimony was given by Fred E. Edgerton, chief bank examiner for State Auditor Oscar Nelson, under cross-examination by Assistant State's Attorney Edwin J. Raber. The prosecutor sought to show that the banks were not properly supervised and that Bain's alleged illegal activities were either ignored or countenanced by State officials.

Byrns, arrested Wednesday while riding in another stolen automobile, was arraigned yesterday before Judge Bristol. He admitted stealing the judge's car, but denied he knew whose it was. Judge Bristol sentenced him to serve an indeterminate term in the Pontiac Reformatory for violation of parole.

FURTHER DETAILS

TRADE TREATIES

Made Public in Part as Ottawa Delegates Start

TOO EARLY TO SEE

Wheat, Dairy Products,

ducts to Be Limited.

By the Associated Press. OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 22.—A series of 12 trade treaties designed to promote the economic welfare of the British Empire and to demonstrate the unity of its dominions was made public in part today as the delegates to the Imperial Conference returned home.

The United Kingdom signed seven agreements. These were with Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, Newfoundland and Southern Rhodesia. The Irish Free State signed two pacts, one with Canada and another with South Africa. Canada also had agreements with South Africa and Southern Rhodesia, while South Africa struck a bargain with New Zealand.

Many of the trade channels between the United States and various British Dominions and the United Kingdom will be affected by the treaties, which all carry certain correlated preferences. Just how far British preference will cut into the United States or world trade cannot be determined by the various summaries. Further, actual practice must determine the final slice the Empire has cut for itself out of world trade.

U. S. Products Affected.
Many products the United States has heretofore furnished to the British Empire units in large quantities are prominently mentioned for Empire preference. These include wheat, dairy products, automobiles, copper, fruits, meats of various kinds, corn, typewriters, radios and cotton manufactures.

For instance, the United Kingdom undertook to impose a duty of two shillings a quarter on foreign wheat in its treaty with Canada. A quarter is eight heaped bushels or 64 pounds. Other products now on the British free list were put under a tariff barrier so that Canada's products could enjoy free entry.

These included butter, apples and pears, dried fruits, eggs, condensed milk and copper. The duties varied. Raw apples and pears drew 4 shillings a cwt. duty a hundredweight, and copper 2 pence a pound. Canadian cattle restrictions would be modified.

In return Canada granted new or increased margins of preference to the United Kingdom. It placed on the free list. The unofficial understanding for increased use of British steel reached between Canadian and British interests before the conference began are reflected in the steel schedule adjustments.

Clause Against Dumping.
The Canadian-British agreement also carried a clause designed to prevent Russian dumping in the English and Canadian markets, a point on which Canada has often complained. This will affect principally wheat and lumber.

Australian wheat, dairy products and oranges and grapes are given British preference in return for tariff concessions. Southern Rhodesia got its corn protected in the British market with a 10 per cent levy.

Canada and South Africa struck a trade on Indian corn and automobiles. Canada giving preference to South Africa's corn, and South Africa protecting Canadian automobiles.

The Irish Free State opened its doors to Canadian wheat in return for the same consideration Canada gives United Kingdom products.

India and the United Kingdom got together on cotton manufactures. The United Kingdom granted a 10 per cent preference for India's products. India in turn gave a seven and one-half per cent preference on British cottons, and a 10 per cent preference on other products.

All the agreements are subject to ratification by the various Parliamentary bodies of the empire units. It was announced that the texts of the treaties would be made public later.

The Canadian Parliament will meet some time in October to consider ratification of the agreements. The agreements, said Premier Bennett, in closing the conference, "constitute a definite advance toward closer economic association—but this prophetic beginning must not blind us to the fact that it is not the beginning—we have laid only the foundation—and if this scheme of closer empire association is to endure and bring to each of us the benefits we hope for, further action must be taken at a not too distant date."

The Natural Way

Milk is the perfect food for children. Doctors realized that if the Vitamin D content in milk could be increased, children would have a natural way to secure the needed quantity of Vitamin D regularly at their meals and without trouble to the mother. Years of research and experimentation finally determined how this could be done. Some of America's most famous research schools and most skillful pediatricians are responsible for the discovery of the new Vitamin D Milk. Like many other important discoveries, the method of increasing the Vitamin D content in milk is extremely simple and positive. Pevely cows are fed irradiated yeast—that's all. Nature takes the valuable Vitamin D from the irradiated yeast and puts it in the milk. (The actual quantity is 160 units per quart of milk or 16 times as much as in ordinary milk.) There is no change, whatever, in the flavor of the milk. Pevely Vitamin D Milk is certified milk produced at the Pevely certified farms—the finest milk that can be produced. It is identical with regular Pevely Certified Milk except that it comes from cows that are fed irradiated yeast.

How to Get Vitamin D Milk

You can order direct from Pevely Dairy or thru your grocer. We suggest that you ask your doctor about this new milk and secure his opinion of its extra health value. The production of Vitamin D Milk is limited so if you wish to have it regularly, place your order immediately. Phone Pevely Dairy, GRand 4400.

Look for this cap and seal. It identifies the genuine Pevely Vitamin D Milk.

Police say, however, he was identified by G. C. Brown as a prowler he shot at last night and who dived through a window in the kitchen of Brown's home at 2604 East Twenty-fifth street, Granite City. Brown said he was not acquainted with Francis, who went to the hospital an hour after the shooting.

OF BRITISH EMPIRE
TRADE TREATIES

Summary of 12 Agreements
Made Public in Part as Ottawa Delegates Start
for Homes.

EFFECT ON WORLD

Wheat, Dairy Products,
Fruits, Autos and Radios
Are Among U. S. Products to Be Limited.

By the Associated Press.
OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 22.—A series of 12 trade treaties designed to promote the economic welfare of the British Empire and to demonstrate the unity of its dominions was made public in part today as delegates to the Imperial Conference returned home.

The United Kingdom signed seven agreements. These were with Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, Newfoundland
and Southern Rhodesia. The Irish Free State signed two pacts, one with Canada and another with South Africa. Canada also had agreements with South Africa and Southern Rhodesia, while South Africa struck a bargain with New Zealand.

Many of the trade channels between the United States and various British Dominions and the United Kingdom will be affected by the treaties, which all carry certain correlated preferences.

Just how far British preference
will cut into United States or world trade cannot be determined by the various summaries. Further, actual practice must determine the final also the Empire has cut for itself
out of world trade.

U. S. Products Affected.

Many products the United States has heretofore furnished to the British Empire units in large quan-
ties are prominently mentioned for Empire preference. These include wheat, dairy products, automobiles, copper, fruits, meats of various kinds, corn, typewriters,
radioes and cotton manufactures.

For instance, the United Kingdom undertook to impose a duty of two shillings a quarter on foreign wheat in its treaty with Canada. A quarter is eight heaped bushels or 34 pounds. Other products now in the British free list were put under a tariff barrier so that Canada's products could enjoy free entry.

These included butter, apples and pears, dried fruits, eggs, condensed milk and copper. The duties varied. Raw apples and pears drew 4 shillings 6 pence duty a hundred-weight, and copper 2 pence a pound. Canadian cattle restrictions would be modified.

In return Canada granted new or increased margins of preference
for 220 United Kingdom items,
with many more British products placed on the free list. The unofficial understanding for increased use of British steel reached between Canadian and British interests before the conference began are reflected in the steel schedule adjustments.

Clause Against Dumping.

The Canadian-British agreement also carried a clause designed to prevent Russian dumping in the British and Canadian markets, a point on which Canada has often complained. This will affect principally wheat and lumber.

Australian wheat, dairy products
and oranges and grapefruit won British preference, in return for tariff concessions. Southern Rhodesia got its corn protected in the British market with a 10 per cent duty.

Canada and South Africa struck
a trade on Indian corn and automobiles. Canada giving preference to South Africa's corn, and South Africa protecting Canadian automobiles.

The Irish Free State opened its doors to Canadian wheat, in return for the same consideration
Canada gives United Kingdom products.

India and the United Kingdom
put together on cotton manufactures, the United Kingdom granting a 10 per cent preference for India's products. India in turn gave a seven and one-half per cent preference on British automobiles, and a 10 per cent preference
on other products.

All the agreements are subject to ratification by the various Parliamentary bodies of the empire treaties. It was announced that the ratification would be made public later.

The Canadian Parliament will meet some time in October to consider ratification of the agreements. The agreements, said President Bennett, in closing the conference, "constitute a definite advance toward closer empire economic association—but this propitious beginning must not blind us to the fact that it is but the beginning—we have laid only the foundation—and if this scheme of closer empire association is to endure
and bring to each of us the benefits we hope for, further action must be taken at a not too distant date."

MARTIAL LAW IN HAITI
AS MOVE TO CONTROL PRESS

Five Papers Suppressed and Two Editors Arrested at President's Order.

By the Associated Press.
PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, Aug. 20
(by airmail).—President Stenio
Vincent has proclaimed martial law for Port-au-Prince, the capital, and certain other sections of Haiti as part of a Government campaign against the opposition press.

Since his proclamation five newspapers have been suppressed and two editors arrested, one of them being Jolibois, a prominent radical. Under martial law
the President can suspend the freedom of the press and dissolve
the Haitian Chambers, now in session.

President Vincent said he took
this action because certain newspapers were agitating the public and such agitation might lead to bloodshed and imperil the stability of the Government.

Chicago Mayor Expresses Hope World's Fair Visitors Will Be

By the Associated Press.
WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 22.—
Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago, arriving here from Czechoslovakia, in an interview yesterday said prohibition in the United States could not last and expressed hope that visitors to the World's Fair in Chicago in 1933 would be able to enjoy beer.

In an article in a Warsaw daily paper he said he believed crime conditions in Chicago had greatly improved and stated that in his administration Polish-Americans had occupied some leading municipal posts.

Mayor Cermak paid his respects to the city president and in the presence of the Council was awarded a diploma making him an honorary Councilman. He said that he was enjoying his stay in Warsaw
and was greatly touched by Polish hospitality.

Prof. Walter Burr of the University of Missouri, secretary of the Missouri Committee on Unemployment Relief, conferred yesterday with Gov. Caulfield, who said he hoped to have a program ready by Monday.

Recently Burr conducted a survey of Missouri's needs for Federal relief.

$72,000,000 PROGRAM TO AID
JOBLESS DRAFTED IN GERMANY

Year's Employment for 150,000 Men Provided in Government's Plan.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Aug. 22.—A plan to spend $72,000,000 marks (about $72,000,000) in a program to provide a year's employment for 150-000 men is likely to be presented to the Reichstag as the Government's effort to check unemployment, which now is well above the 5,000,000 mark.

Among other things the plan
calls for the expenditure of $24-000,000 on road building, $12,000-000 on canals, $7,500,000 on houses, $2,400,000 on railways and $2,400,000 on shipbuilding. The shipping allotment would be devoted mostly to the herring fleet in an effort to make Germany independent of imports.

The railroads would supplement
the Government's subsidy for improvement of their property. It was estimated the re-employed would receive monthly wages of $38. If approval by the Reichstag fails,
there are indications the Government might use the emergency degree method, appointing labor leaders to supervise the work.

PRESIDENT BACK AT DESK
FOLLOWING WEEK'S VACATION

Hoover Returns From Rapidan
Camp, After Longest Absence
in 17 Months.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—President Hoover returned to the White House early today from his Rapidan Mountain camp, ending his longest vacation in 17 months.

The drive from the mountains
was uneventful, although the presidential party departed from its customary route. Because of construction work on one of the roads
below camp, Hoover drove past Culpeper, Va., rather than through Sperryville.

Except for one day of work last Thursday, the President has been vacationing either on Chesapeake Bay or in the mountains for a week. He arose at sun-up this morning for his return trip.

41 FLYERS START CONTEST
FOR VON HINDENBURG TROPHY

Pilots to Cover 4690 Miles in European Tour Which Will Last a Week.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Aug. 22.—Forty-one pilots left Tempelhof Airfield at intervals of 5 minutes yesterday in flight around Europe for the Von Hindenburg trophy. Yesterday's course took the contestants over Warsaw, Prague, Vienna and Zagreb, Yugoslavia, and today they headed for Rome. In the course of the week they will cover about 4690 miles.

In addition to the annual trophy
President von Hindenburg has offered another open only to German flyers for the stated reason that "Germany is not permitted to enjoy the same freedom with airplanes as other nations."

FEDERAL AGENCIES

Employment Service and Bureau of Labor Statistics Issue Conflicting Reports on July Business.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
201-205 Kellogg Building.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Two bureaus of the Labor Department,
both engaged in similar work, have issued contradictory statements regarding business and unemployment.

The Federal Employment Service,
the ballyhoo bureau of Secretary of Labor Daugherty, announced today that its reports "reveal that July witnessed the first really noticeable expansion of industrial activity that has occurred so far this year."

The long-established Bureau of Labor Statistics, which bases its conclusions on returns from 45,417 establishments in 16 major industrial groups employing 4,100,425 workers, reported, however, that these groups during July showed a decrease of 1 per cent in employment and 5.1 per cent in payrolls
in comparison with June.

The Bureau of Statistics further reported that 14 reporting manufacturing industries, which supply more than half the workers and the payrolls of the total major groups, reported a decrease of 4 per cent in employment and a decrease of 7.9
per cent in wages and salaries.

Increase in Leather Groups.

Of the 14 manufacturing industries groups, the Bureau of Statistics announced, the leather group alone reported increases in employment and payrolls from June to July, the remaining 13 groups reporting decreases in both items.

Using the employment and wages of 1926 as an index of 100,
the bureau's statistics disclosed
that employment in the leather group increased from 69.7 in June to 70.8, whereas wages were 43.4

SOVIET MOBILIZES
100,000 PEASANTS
TO REAP GRAIN

Call Issued in Ukraine Because of Tardiness in Gathering Harvest.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, Aug. 22.—One hundred thousand peasants were reported organized in the Ukraine today to complete the grain harvest,
which is still far in arrears as compared to last year.

Khar'kov dispatches told of the mobilization, declaring that the peasants were answering the call of the official newspaper Pravda for more speed in completing the harvest before cool weather.

Local Communist party organs
throughout the grain-producing region mustered the best workers in the villages and collective farms to set the pace for a 100 per cent harvest in the sown area. Leading those who answered the call were village newspaper correspondents.

The Khar'kov dispatches said indications were that the campaign was having favorable results.

Up to Aug. 8, only 128,612,500
acres, or 62.5 per cent of the entire sown area, has been harvested,
compared to 155,232,500, or 71.4 per cent at the same date in 1931.

MESSAGE FROM EX-KAISER

By the Associated Press.
BRESLAU, Germany, Aug. 22.—
Ten thousand persons assembled today on the historic battlefield of Luthen, where Frederick the Great defeated the Austrians in 1757, to witness the dedication of a new monument and to hear the aged former Field Marshal, August von Mackensen, read a message of appreciation to his followers from the former Kaiser, Wilhelm.

"Battle will remain the shining example of valor," the ex-Kaiser
said. "The way to victory is hot, hard fight." The ex-Kaiser rebuked the "youthful radicals" who vandalized the original Luthen monument some time ago.

DROP IN INTERNAL REVENUE FOR YEAR

U. S. Treasury Report for Period That Ended June 30 Shows Collections of $1,557,000,000.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
201-205 Kellogg Bldg.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The Federal Government's financial plight is reflected in a statement issued today by the Treasury on internal revenue collections for the fiscal year ended last June 30. Total collections from all sources for that year were $1,557,043,444, as compared with $2,428,326,754.33 for the previous fiscal year. The decline was $870,499,711.58.

By far the greater part of this loss resulted from the $489,233,799
drop in the collections of corporations and individual income taxes.
From these sources $1,056,756,697
was received for the 1932 fiscal year, as against $1,546,040,497 the preceding year.

Collections from miscellaneous
taxes, which include all the sources of internal revenue except the income tax, fell from $568,188,256 to $500,972,345—a decline of 167,215-914.

Cigarette Revenue Falls.

The cigarette tax for 1932 yielded $317,564,739, of which about two-thirds was paid in the State of North Carolina. There was a decline of $41,336,262 in the cigarette tax yield from 1931 to 1932.

With two exceptions all the other sources produced less in 1932 than in the previous year. These exceptions were in the small taxes on grape brandy used for fortifying
sweet wines and the item of cigarette papers and tubes, which, owing to an increase in the practice of rolling one's own, produced revenue of $1,760,562 in 1932 as against $1,700,562 in 1931.

WILTON LACKAYE, ACTOR, DIES; WAS FAMOUS SVENGALI

Accumbs After Illness of Five Years at His Home in New York—Educated for Priesthood and Law.

WITH NANCE O'NEILL IN 'EAST LYNNE'

Also Had Part of Jean Valjean in 'Les Miserables'—Helped Organize Equity Association.

The Associated Press. NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Wilton Lackaye, noted actor, died early today at his home here. He succumbed to a heart ailment after an illness of nearly five years. He was 59 years old.

The list of his roles occupies several columns in "Who's Who in the Theater," but Svengali in "Tribby," from Du Maurier's novel of the same title, was the corner stone of his national fame.

Born in Loudon County, Va., he studied for a time for the priesthood, and then for the law before turning to the stage. His first wife, the former Alice Evans, died in 1928, when he was 65, he secretly married Miss Kathryn Allyn Riley, who had nursed him through an illness. She survives, with his son, Wilton Lackaye Jr., an actor.

Lackaye first appeared in New York in 1913 as Lucien in "Frankie and Johnnie," and soon he was playing with Fanny Davenport's company in "Much Ado About Nothing." In 1917 he took the role of Jean Valjean in a dramatic version of Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables." The play was criticized in the Chicago press and he answered the criticisms from the stage.

Other Roles of Lackaye. Some of his roles were Robert Leach in "Allan Dore," the spy in "The Silver Ring," Capt. Gilchrist in "Bootsie's Baby" and Gen. Brent in "Shenandoah," the famous hit by Augustus Thomas.

He appeared with Nance O'Neill in "East Lynne" and with others in "The Clemenceau Case," "Nero," "The Two Orphans," "The Pit," "The Power of the Press," "Aristocracy," "Quo Vadis" and "Uncle Sam's Cabin." In 1926 he appeared in a review of "Treasury of the World" with John Drew. Two seasons ago he made his last appearance here in "The Monkey Talks."

Founder of Guild. He was a founder of the Catholic Actors Guild and was instrumental in organizing the Actors' Equity Association, afterward conducting a losing fight with John Emmerson in the leadership in that society. Of late years he threw himself into a campaign to cleanse the stage.

"Salacious plays," he said, "are produced because there is a salacious public."

During a dispute between him and John J. McGraw, former leader of the New York Giants, Lackaye was thrown downstairs and suffered a fracture of the ankle. McGraw, denying that he did the throwing, was suspended from the Lambs Club for a while after the incident.

Lackaye at Old Suburban Garden in 1908 and 1909. In 1908 and 1909 Wilton Lackaye appeared as a dramatic star at the Old Suburban Garden Theater, then under the management of Sol and Jacob Orpheus.

OLYMPIC STARS IN MOVIES

Eleanor Holm Will Be Cast in Comedy Role. HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 22.—Warner Brothers' first "National Comedy" said last night Eleanor Holm, New York, holder of the 110-meter backstroke swim, had signed a seven-year picture contract with the studio. The studio said it would not be a "cash in" on Miss Holm's swimming prowess by casting her in a mermaid role, but would try to place her in a conventional part, believing that her beauty and general bearing would be a success.

SCHOOLHOUSES ON WHEELS. The list of schoolhouses on wheels has proved to be a success in Canada. And why not? We have wheeled groceries, caravans and vehicles ministering to every material want and need of the country. The most important need of all, education, the equally well served in this modern, hurrying age?

The people of sparsely settled Canada find this need should be filled. The wheeled schoolhouse is now a fact in school districts and rural sections where the population is sparse and limited. These remote and thinly settled sections, in Ontario at least, are reached by this mobile agency wherever a railroad runs, or accessible roadways are to be found, and bus and bus now take the place of the horse-drawn mission and function of the one-time celebrated hillside temples of learning from which graduated some of the continent's most distinguished men and women.

These cars and buses are well lighted and well equipped, hauled at a low rate by the railroads and bus companies, and are supplied with good teachers.

The innovation is one that could be emulated to advantage in many parts of the United States and in Mexico where conditions very similar to those obtaining in Canada are to be found.

FEDERAL AGENCIES CANNOT AGREE ON TRADE SITUATION

In June and 44.7 in July. This wage spread between employment and wages means that many of the workers were employed part time. The Industrial Information Bulletin, published by the Employment Service, announced that "a decided upward trend occurred in the textile industry, especially noticeable in mills manufacturing woolen and worsted goods, rayon and silk products and hosiery. The Bureau of Statistics figures showed that in the textile industry employment decreased from 58.6 in June to 55.3 in July and that payrolls decreased from 35.2 to 31.1. Employment in the silk goods group increased only from 41.2 to 41.4. Employment in hosiery and knit goods decreased from 74.7 to 67.5, and wages decreased from 49.1 to 40.4. Employment in woolen and worsted goods did increase from 49.2 to 55.3, but wages increased only from 31.5 to 31.4. The 1926 index of 100 was used by the bureau.

Other Statistics Ignored. The Employment Service also ignored the Bureau of Statistics figures in stating "very little change occurred in the volume of employment in the iron and steel mills, and operating schedules remained far below normal; however, slight increases were noted in a few districts."

The Bureau of Statistics figures flatly contradicted this announcement. The Bureau reported that employment in the iron and steel industry slumped from 54.9 to 51.6 and that wages decreased from 26.9 to 23.1.

Secretary Work's Bureau reported: "The upturn in coal mining in a number of the anthracite fields resulted in the return to work of several thousand miners, but this improvement was not reflected in the bituminous area." This is an adroitly worded statement which leaves the impression that there has been a general improvement in the entire anthracite coal industry. The Bureau of Statistics commenting on all the industries reporting, said: "The most pronounced falling-off in employment over the month interval, 16.1 per cent, was reported in the anthracite mining group."

Increase in Gold Mining. The Employment Service dismissed the decline in metalliferous mining by stating that this industry remained far below normal, except in the mining of gold, which showed some increase in production and employment. The Bureau of Statistics reported that employment in this group decreased 8.3 per cent from June to July.

The bureau announced increased seasonal activity in the canning and preserving industry, which was reflected both in employment and payrolls, and stated that there had been substantial increases in employment and payrolls in the building construction group.

"Two additional groups, crude petroleum producing and hotels," the bureau continued, "reported gains in the number of workers from June to July, coupled with declines in earnings. The remaining 12 industrial groups reported decreases both in employment and payrolls from June to July."

BISHOP ADDRESSES CATHOLIC CONVENTION

Omaha Prelate Urges Moral Remedies for Economic and Social Ills.

The evils and injustices of the modern economic and social order grow out of violations of the moral law and may be righted only by moral remedies, Bishop Joseph F. Rummel of Omaha told delegates to the joint convention of the Central Catholic Women's Union at St. Anthony's Hall, Maramec street and Michigan avenue, yesterday.

"Economic depression," he said, "is due to ruthless defiance of the fundamental principles of justice, honesty and charity. This defiance is intensified by selfishness of individuals, groups and nations, and by the rivalries and greed so engendered."

"Greed and egoism are the enemies of social and economic life. Sensuality is the enemy of the natural order. Communism and terrorism are the wreckers of the political order, and atheism is the foe of Christianity."

Urges Catholic Action. Bishop Rummel urged the delegates to foster Catholic Action—the concerted application of Christian principles—as a means of combating present evils. Unity of purpose, prayer and penance were the specific steps he urged.

The Rev. Dr. Charles P. Bruhl of St. Charles Seminary, Overbrook, Pa., said the time was ripe for the movement known as Catholic Action.

"The earth gives forth in abundance, yet men go hungry," he said. "To decrease the world's surplus we must increase the purchasing power of the masses. We must cure social and moral ills with a cure based on right moral principles. We must fight mammothism. Economists can arrange only the incidents."

"Catholic Action is the agency to heal the wounds. The world begins to realize this, but not to admit it. The present need is to realize in ourselves the ideals of Christian life and to put them before the nation in an appealing form. This convention seeks to do this by establishing centers of action to move the masses to the old standards of right living and justice to every man."

"Catholic Action is action on public life, environment, municipal, state and national life. The aims and politics of Catholic Action are to apply the teachings of Christ to all phases of private and public life and to establish the kingdom of Christ on earth. This aim endangers no legitimate interests, no nation, no rightful authority and no well-meaning political party."

The convention—the seventy-seventh of the Central Verein and the sixteenth of the Catholic Women's Union—was opened formally yesterday. It will close Wednesday.

KEEPING COOL ON WASHDAY — by C.A. Voight

"A little does a lot of work," says Mrs. Edna Montgomery of Huron, S. D.

"I've used Rinso for some time. I find it very good for washing and general cleaning. It loosens grease so easily and doesn't fade the clothes. A little Rinso does a lot of work. With one big box I wash:

2 dresses	6 tablecloths	7 home-dresses
2 bedspreads	31 towels	133 napkins
4 bureau covers	19 children's suits	6 aprons
12 face cloths	14 pairs children's stockings	26 pairs socks
8 napkins	6 pieces children's underwear	18 pieces underwear
18 pillow cases	3 children's nightgowns	6 nightgowns
7 sheets		23 shirts

"I had almost a half box left and I used that to wash my dishes 28 times, and the floors 4 times."

Cup for cup, Rinso gives twice as much suds as lightweight, pulled-up soap—measures in handy water. Try it next washday for the whitest wash ever!

BROAD RISE IN STOCKS IS LED BY THE RAIL GROUP

Short Squeeze Develops in Last Hour and Carries a Number of Issues Up 3 to More Than 5 Points to New Peak Levels for Summer Recovery.

STOCK PRICE TREND.
Number of advances 659
Number of declines 333
Stocks unchanged 90
Total issued traded 711,500

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Another bull market in stocks developed today, as the last throw off its reactionary tendencies of last week. A short-squeeze developed in the last hour, which carried a number of issues up three to considerably more than five points, to new peak levels for the summer recovery. The closing tone was strong. Transfers were around 3,000,000 shares.

The list began the new week very much as it did last week. A good tone in other markets, such as bonds and principal commodities, was helpful. The selling of late last week appeared completely to have dried up, leaving a sort of vacuum on the upside.

Union Pacific was a high flyer, getting up more than eight points to a new peak for the recovery. Advances of about 5 to 6 points appeared in such issues as Santa Fe, Delaware & Hudson, American Telephone, Allied Chemical and Auburn, while issues up 3 or more included U. S. Steel, American Can, American Tobacco, Liggett & Myers, E. Air Reduction, du Pont, McKeesport, Eastman and Case. Advances of 1 to 2 points appeared throughout the list, embraced virtually every prominent group of issues.

The cotton market was again a leader in commodities, registering new highs for the recovery. Closing prices were 70 cents in 31 a bale higher. Advances in wheat were modest, amounting to 1/2 to 1 cent, but a strong effort to follow, closing virtually unchanged.

Foreign exchanges were mixed with sterling softening somewhat. Sterling is seasonally under some pressure at this time, but was difficult to say whether it reflected further London buying 1 the securities markets here. Cable rates lower at 44 1/2. Leading corn futures were mixed, with the French franc and the Swiss franc and the Dutch guilder a shade lower.

Cotton Is Higher.

The share market and some of the principal commodities, notably cotton, moved forward together. Cotton reached new highs for the recovery, and wheat also better. The conclusion of the Ottawa conference, at which it was tentatively agreed to favor Canadian and Australian wheat over the American product in England, failed to have any particularly marked effect upon that staple today.

Rails were helped considerably by Saturday's report on freight car loadings for the week ended Aug. 15, which showed an increase of more than 16,000 cars over the previous week, of which a substantial portion was accounted for by the movement of miscellaneous merchandise, which was accepted as a good sign. The first of the largest trunk lines to report for the week ended Aug. 20, showed some recession, at 23,712 cars, compared with 24,610 in the previous week, but insufficient evidence at hand to indicate that next Saturday's report for all Class 1 carriers would show. Chemicals were bid up in response to improvement in the textile industry, which is one of the largest users of heavy chemicals. Du Pont's earnings subsidiary, furthermore, announced a 10-cent-a-pound increase in price of important rayon yarns.

Day's 10 Most Active Stocks.

Closing price and net change of the 10 most active stocks today follows: Canadian Pacific, 16 1/2; United States Steel, 44 1/2; New York Central, 25 1/2; American T. & T., 11 1/2; General Electric, 18 1/2; International Nickel, 5 1/2; J. I. Case, 14 1/2; Adams Express, 7 1/2; Westinghouse Electric, 3 1/2; General Motors, 14 1/2; Commonwealth Southern, 4 1/2.

FOREIGN MARKETS AT A GLANCE

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Trading on the Stock Exchange was irregularly. Gold mine shares were the most active and there was speculative buying of Argentine rails. Trans-Atlantic issues were steady, while others were mixed. The weakness in sterling exchange. The closing was undecided.

PARIS, Aug. 22.—The Bourse showed heaviness from the opening with buyers holding aloof. Renten gained small fractions while bank shares sagged and international issues were freely offered. The closing tone was heavy.

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—Prices declined slightly in an extremely dull market but recovered partially at the close.

TODAY'S NEW YORK STOCK MARKET (COMPLETE) (Associated Press Wire)

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Total sales today on the New York Stock Exchange amounted to 3,165,088 shares, compared with 2,815,569 Saturday, 1,905,120 a week ago and 2,604,494 a year ago. Total sales from Jan. 1 to date were 254,383,939 shares, compared with 288,129,322 a year ago and 669,340,371 two years ago.

SHERIFF SAYS E'LL REPEL INVASION OF BENTON MINES

declares He Will Use Machine Guns If Necessary to Halt March on Franklin County of 25,000 Opponents of New Scale.

GOVERNOR ASKED TO TAKE A HAND

Force Follows Killing of Picket and Wounding of 10 Other Persons in Operations by Deputies at Zeigler.

The Associated Press. GILLESPIE, Ill., Aug. 23.—A committee appointed by executives of Springfield to confer with Gov. Emmerson, Attorney-General Oscar Carlsstrom and the United States district attorney to seek free access to the Southern Illinois mine fields for a caravan of miners attempting to gain recruits for the fight against the reduced wage rate.

The committee comprises Mayor William Brown, Gillespie; Joe Peck, Bend; Michael Bray, Litchfield; Robert Whiteley, Carlinville; and Truman A. Snell, Carlinville, the latter three State Representatives.

The policy committee announced the five would ask "that the reign of terror be ended by removal of armed guards and that the line of marchers be given full access to Franklin County to talk to their brother mine workers."

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. BENTON, Ill., Aug. 23.—A tense calm prevailed in Franklin County today as the coal mines worked with reduced forces under a truce arranged last night at a parley between mine operators and peace officers on the one side, and on the other representatives of miners determined to stop work at the shafts as long as the new reduced wage scale is in effect.

The parley was arranged after two flareups at Zeigler yesterday morning in which one miner picket was killed and 10 others, including two women and a boy, were injured as they fled under machine and shotgun fire from Franklin County deputies of Sheriff Browning Robinson.
